

Redistricting Bill Approved By Legislature

Milwaukee County
Limited to 25
Assembly Seats

MADISON (AP)—The Republican-controlled Wisconsin Legislature defied the veto threat of Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds and approved Friday a legislative reapportionment bill that would limit Milwaukee County to 25 Assembly seats.

"I'm about as positive as anything that I am going to veto it," Reynolds said even before all votes were in on 10 amendments to the GOP plan for realigning Senate and Assembly districts.

Reynolds indicated he will act on the bill in time to permit a vote on his veto before the deadline set by the Supreme Court for enactment of a reapportionment bill. The high court has said that if districts are not realigned by May 1 it will do the job itself by May 15.

56-38 Vote

The reapportionment bill cleared the Assembly on a 56-38 vote that saw a dozen Democrats join with 44 Republicans in favor of giving Milwaukee County one more Assembly seat instead of the two demanded by Reynolds.

In the Senate, which passed the original bill 22-11 earlier this week, Democrats tried to delay action on the Assembly amendments but failed as Republicans refused to put off work on the measure. The Senate then approved the bill and sent it to the governor.

"The politicians have taken this bill and wrapped it around themselves," Democratic Floor leader Richard Zaborski of Milwaukee told his Senate colleagues after the 10 amendments in the Assembly converted several foes in supporters.

3 Amendments

Republican Floor leader Robert Knowles of New Richmond then pointed out to Zaborski that only three of the amendments were authored by GOP lawmakers with the others coming from Democrats.

Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, the plan's chief champion, called the bill "by far one of the best reapportionments of a legislative body in the United States."

A typed copy of the bill is expected to reach Reynolds' desk Monday. If he is prompt in rejecting it, Republicans in the Legislature intend to try next week for the two-thirds vote necessary to override a veto.

If opponents hold fast in the Assembly there would be insufficient votes to override.

8 Milwaukee Men Indicted In Mail Theft

$300,000 Worth
Of Checks Taken
From Rail Station

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The theft of mail bags containing an estimated $300,000 in checks from the North Western Railway station was disclosed Friday with release of a federal grand jury indictment naming eight Milwaukee men.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Louis W. Staudenmaier Jr. said that six or eight mail bags were taken last Nov. 3 and another bag on Jan. 11. He said that none of the mail has been recovered.

Authorities said that checks totaling $180,000 were taken to Reno, Nev., but they declined to say how many had been cashed.

Indictments Returned

The indictment, returned last Tuesday but impounded until all eight men were taken into custody, contains charges of mail theft, having stolen mail in their possession, and transporting or conspiring to transport stolen checks from Milwaukee to Reno.

Six of the men indicted were named in warrants last March. They were accused of participating in a ring allegedly involved in as many as 120 burglaries with loot totaling an estimated $50,000.

The six are Larry V. Arndt, 29, Edward H. Kretlow, 47, Jerome W. Morrison, 29, John B. Trilegi, 49, Samuel S. DiMaggio, 47, and John W. Forbes, 29.

The two others named in the mail theft indictment were John W. Cassel, 29, and his brother, Earl L., 33.

Arndt, Forbes and Morrison were charged with the Nov. 30 mail theft and Forbes and the Cassel brothers with the Jan. 11 robbery. John Cassel, DiMaggio, Forbes and Trilegi are accused in the indictment with transporting stolen checks to Reno on Dec. 11.

John Cassel, Arndt, Kretlow, Morrison and Trilegi posted bond of $5,000 each. DiMaggio, Forbes and Earl Cassel were held in Milwaukee County jail.

helicopter crewmen saw no survivors in the wreckage of the Middle East Airlines-Air Liban Caravelle jet spotted today in shallow water about 10 miles off the Arabian coast.

Divers set out from Dhahran to start an underwater search at the scene, but the Navy spokesman said, "It doesn't look like there can be any survivors."

The spokesman said the search for survivors was continuing and that more helicopters and small boats had been sent to the crash site. Only one wing of the plane jutting above the water line.

The twin-jet airliner went down in the gulf about halfway between Dhahran, an oil city near the Arabian coast, and the archipelago of islands which make up this British-protected Arab sheikdom 15 miles offshore.

An airline spokesman in Beirut, Lebanon, where the flight originated, said the jetliner was flying over wind-whipped desert

NEW YORK (AP)—Author Ben Hecht died in his apartment today, apparently of a heart attack. He was 70.

Hecht, a New Yorker, broke in as a newspaperman on the Chicago Journal in 1910 after finishing high school.

Later he was to write short stories, plays, novels, and mo-

Hecht was stricken in his apartment on West 67th Street in Manhattan. His wife tried to save him with mouth-to-mouth respiration and police administered oxygen.

Dean Rusk Feared in Peril from Viet Cong

Security Forces Braced Against Bomb-Throwing By Communist Terrorists

BY MALCOLM W. BRAWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and South Vietnamese security forces braced today for a possible attempt on the life of Secretary of State Dean Rusk amid reports that Viet Cong suicide squads might make such a move. The massive air-ground security net thrown around Rusk was tightened after a terrorist bomb was tossed into a military bus early today, wounding two U.S. servicemen.

One intelligence report said a Communist suicide squad planned a grenade assassination attempt like that used to kill Thai Lap Thanh, Vietnamese governor general under the former French regime after the end of World War II.

Killed by Terrorist

Thanh and a French general were killed when a terrorist walked up to them, pulled the pins from two grenades and stood next to them until the grenades went off.

Police spotted a suspicious loiterer Friday night near a large electrical plant in the same area where the bus explosion occurred. They chased him and he got away, leaving behind an 11-pound high-explosive bomb. The bomb had not been armed and did not explode.

Police intelligence reports said the Communist Viet Cong planned a wave of bomb explosions in Saigon during the three-day Rusk visit. The bombs were to be directed at electrical transformers around the city.

Property Tax Cut Cost Set At $17 Million

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds said Friday that it would cost Wisconsin only $17 million in surplus funds to extend property tax cuts of up to $200 to persons over 65 years of age.

The Democratic governor told a news conference that funds for his proposal are available and "if this money is left in the bank, the bank will be robbed by election day."

Reynolds predicted that there will be several proposals for using surplus funds to cut other taxes, but said that no other plan "would give such substantial relief to so many people."

The governor noted persons who rent comprise a third of the state's 420,000 over 65 and said he would resist any legislative attempt to deny them property tax relief.

The Legislature is scheduled to consider next week the governor's proposal and a Republican bill that would grant about $9 million in property tax relief to the aged. The GOP bill does not include relief for those in rental housing.

Reynolds told the Legislature last Wednesday he wanted $20 million in surplus funds used for easing property taxes of the aged with a maximum benefit of $100. However, he said a re-examination of figures showed that a maximum benefit of $200 can be given at a cost of $17 million a year.

GSA Wants to Sell Air Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration recommended Friday sale of 977 acres of the 5,539 abandoned Bong Air Force Base in southeastern Wisconsin to the Wisconsin Surplus Property Development Corp. for $94,715.

The recommendation was sent to the Senate-House Government Operations Committee. If there is no objection, the sale can be made in 35 days.

Wisconsin Surplus Property plans to develop the 977-acre site in Kenosha and Racine counties for industry, recreation and housing.

De Gaulle in Good Condition After Operation

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle, who underwent prostate surgery Friday, was officially reported in very satisfactory condition today. A communique said he took several steps in his hospital room.

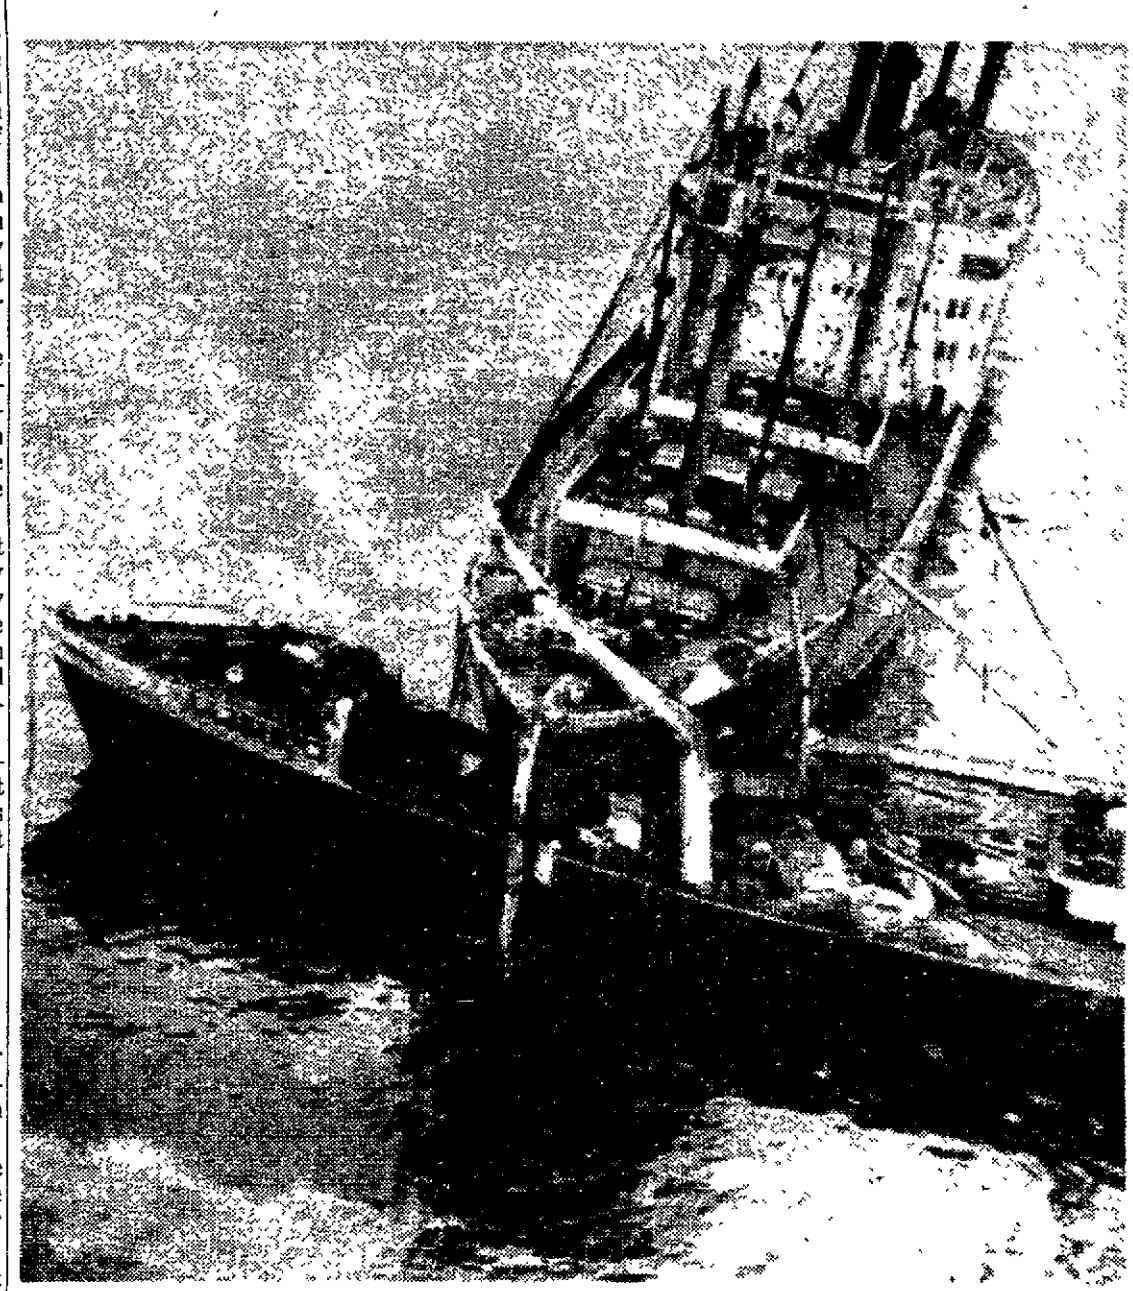

De Gaulle was operated on for a prostate gland disorder. The communique, published about 24 hours after the operation said, "Gen. de Gaulle spent a good night, took some nourishment and took several steps in his room. His condition is very satisfactory."

The communique, issued from the President's Elysee Palace, was signed by three doctors who performed the operation.

De Gaulle rested behind shuttered windows after Friday's secrecy-veiled operation that left his political future in doubt. Can De Gaulle at 73 recover and continue his role as Europe's dominant diplomatic voice?

Most Frenchmen reacted to that question with an enigmatic Gallic shrug.

Government officials, obviously reflecting De Gaulle's fierce determination, were predicting he would be back behind his desk at the Elysee Palace within a month.

Prompt Agreement Anticipated

Belgian Doctor's Strike Ends But Dispute Remains Unsolved

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Belgium's 12,000 doctors and dentists ended their 18-day strike today, but the dispute over the new socialized medicine law remains unresolved.

The doctors agreed to meet with government officials next Wednesday in an attempt to settle their differences over the controversial legislation.

Belgium's medical profession agreed to call off the strike after 5 1/2 hours of intensive negotiations during which the doctors of Belgium's four universities acted as intermediaries.

Afterwards Premier Theo Lefevre said confidently that "conditions now are ripe to reach a prompt agreement on the law which would leave no bitterness."

Lefevre called on his countrymen—doctors and patients—"to heal the wounds of this conflict."

Strong Pressure

The government is under strong pressure from Belgium's labor unions to resist major changes in the law, which would give more than half of Belgium's nine million people free medical care or require them to pay only a token charge.

The doctors fear their offices will be flooded with cranks imagining ailments. They say this would force them to practice "chain medicine"—quickly examining patients in a production line.

They also contend hospital facilities would become overcrowded and complain of the considerable bookkeeping they would have to do under the health insurance plan. They also say the set fees are too low. Labor leaders say the doctors really are worried about a loss of income and additional taxes.

Communist Leaders Head Home After Tribute to Nikita

MOSCOW (AP)—Top Communist leaders headed home today after paying homage to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on his 70th birthday.

They left with Khrushchev the job of repairing the division in the Communist world as he began his 71st year.

Even on his birthday, the quarrel with Red China was not forgotten. Peking's leaders were conspicuous by their absence as other Communist chiefs gathered in the glittering halls of the Kremlin, built by Russia's czars, in an attempt to display unity.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Elmer H. Schroeder, circulation manager and a vice president of the Journal Company who died last October, left an estate of $492,860, according to an inventory filed Friday in probate court. The estate included $423,964 in Journal Company stock.

BY ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tamaki Amano of Japan, now a grocer, has sent his thanks to the U.S. destroyer Mugford whose crew plucked him and another Japanese flier out of the ocean more than 20 years ago.

The Mugford no longer is a commissioned ship. Her captain at the time of the rescue, E. W. Young, later a rear admiral, died in 1957.

The senior surviving officer of the Mugford is Capt. A. F. Johnson of Alexandria, Va., then a lieutenant and the ship's gunnery officer. By letter, Amano and Johnson have corresponded.

Fierce Battle

It began in the fierce sea-air land battle of Guadalcanal in the Solomons.

On the morning of Aug. 8, 1942, Amano was an observer aboard one of 27 planes launched from the Japanese base in New Britain. He says there were many American destroyers amassed off Guadalcanal and that of 27 planes in his mission only two returned to base.

When his plane was shot down, five of the seven aboard were killed immediately, but Amano and another observer survived. His face badly burned and his left arm mangled by a shark, Amano lost consciousness as he floated in the sea. The next thing he recalled was being aboard the Mugford with his companion.

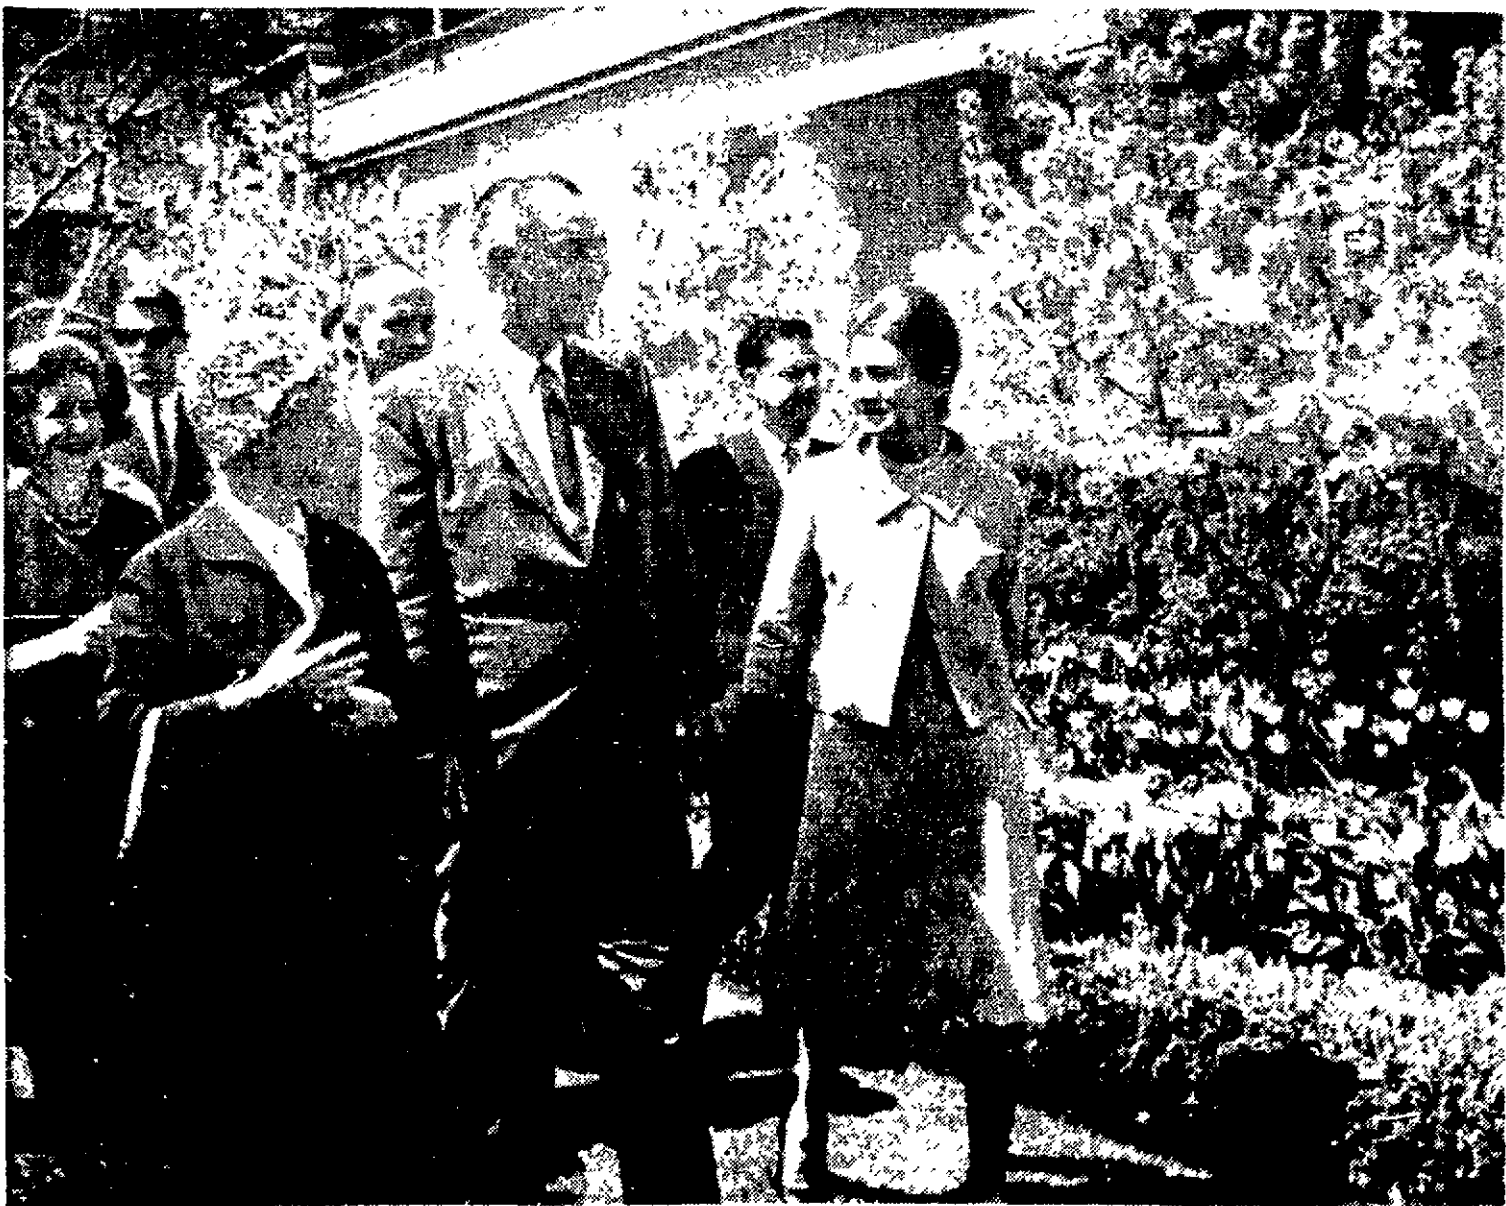

Mailed Letter

Last month, Amano mailed a letter from his home—Aiea-machi, Matsuyama City, Ehime Ken, Shikoku—to Johnson saying that he had "longed to be able to tell you of my deep gratitude." He noted that the 1964 Olympic Games are to be held in Japan and asked Johnson if he couldn't attend the games and visit him so that he could thank Johnson and "ask you what prompted you to rescue me—your enemy."

Johnson, writing Amano, said: "You will think it all the more amazing when I tell you that the ship had been struck by a bomb in a dive-bombing attack the day before and our crew had suffered eight dead and 17 wounded. 'Actually, we were looking for American aviators reported to be shot down; instead we found you. But our captain was full of human kindness, and he could not leave two helpless men struggling in the water, whether they were friends or foes. You might be interested to know that the next night, after you had been transferred to a hospital ship, we rescued over 400 officers and men from two of our cruisers which had been sunk in battle with Japanese ships. 'It is good that the passage of time permits us to look back on those dangerous days with a calm and objective outlook.'" only three minutes northwest of Dhanran when radio contact was lost at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

The twin-jet airliner took off from Beirut on the two-hour non-stop flight to Dhanran and ran into the sandstorm near the end of the 1,100-mile hop.

Visibility was near zero when the plane began its approach for the nighttime landing, then overflowed the airport near the Persian Gulf coast and went down 10 miles offshore.

The plane was found during a massive air, land and sea search launched at dawn by U.S. and British Air Force jets and helicopters, private planes, desert vehicles and ships.

Passengers were reported to include 23 Americans, 11 Saudis, four Lebanese, one Syrian, one Bahraini, one Jordanian and one Palestinian. The crew consisted of five Lebanese, one French and one Swiss.

Dhanran, a comparatively modern desert city, is the heart of Saudi Arabia's multimillion-dollar oil operations and the headquarters of the Arabian American Oil Co.

There is a large American colony in Dhanran connected with ARAMCO. Most employees live in the company complex of air-conditioned apartments and single dwellings, with company stores and entertainment facilities nearby.

Milwaukee Jury Convicts 16 for Demonstrations

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sixteen civil rights demonstrators, including two Congress of Racial Equality leaders, were convicted of disorderly conduct Friday for staging a sit-in at Mayor Henry Maier's office in City Hall last Sept. 17.

A jury of three men and three women deliberated two hours before reaching verdicts against the group, which included 11 women.

County Judge P. Ryan Duffy fined John H. Givens Jr., 28, Milwaukee CORE chairman, the maximum of $100 and costs. Eugene Tournor, 27, of St. Louis, national field secretary of CORE, and the 14 others were fined $50 and costs.

The group staged their City Hall demonstration in protesting the membership of Fred E. Lins on the Greater Milwaukee Social Development Commission. CORE leaders contend that Lins made derogatory remarks about Negroes.

Cambodia, Thailand In Clash at Border

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Three Cambodian soldiers were killed and a Thai border patrol policeman was wounded in a frontier clash last Tuesday, the Bangkok World said.

The English-language paper, quoting border patrol police sources, said 50 Cambodian troops crossed the border in Thailand's northeastern Surin province and clashed with a Thai patrol.

The paper said the Cambodians finally withdrew leaving three dead behind. Thailand and Cambodia have no diplomatic relations.

Brazil Expected to Break With Cubans

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's new government is expected to break off diplomatic relations with Cuba but continue its commercial and diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

Informed sources say the regime will let relations with Havana go into a freeze before announcing the break. Cuban Ambassador Raul Roa Kouri left Brazil with his family and personal belongings on April 2, a day after the ouster of President Joao Goulart.

ficient votes to override the veto. The reapportionment job then would be left to the Supreme Court.

Republicans argue that to give Milwaukee County 26 Assembly seats would create "injustices to the people of northern Wisconsin districts." Reynolds insists that the county's heavy population deserves two more than the present 24 seats.

Assembly Speaker Robert Haase, R-Marquette, declared that if the court reapportioned, "Milwaukee will get just 25 seats."

Disturbed Man Held for Threat Against President

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arthur George Post, 25, who has been found insane on three occasions, was in jail today charged with threatening the life of President Johnson.

He was arrested in the county jail Thursday where he was awaiting trial on six counts of arson. U.S. Commissioner William Costa set bond at $100,000 Friday.

Lane Bertram, Secret Service agent in charge in Houston, testified at the bond hearing that four persons said they had heard Post make the threats.

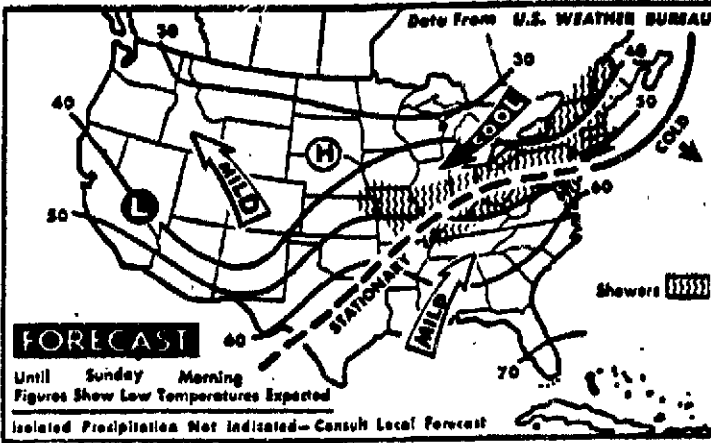

Post was sent to the Rusk, Tex., State Hospital for treatment last September after his third sanity hearing. In February, he was released when a psychiatrist pronounced him cured.

East German Flees Into West Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—A 19-year-old East German youth fled into West Berlin amid a hail of bullets on the outskirts of the city Friday.

West Berlin workers aided the dash to freedom by racing a heavy truck between the shooting East German border guards and the fleeing Johannes Krause.

Krause jumped into the truck and the vehicle roared off. No one was hit.

Washing Hands Basic Rule for Food Handling

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

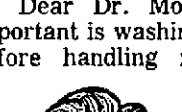

Dear Dr. Molner: How important is washing the hands before handling food or eating utensils?

Personally, this is a must with me. But perhaps I am too touchy.

Several months ago an elderly relative came to live at our home. The fact that she does not wash her hands causes me to cringe whenever she asks to help in the kitchen. Although I admonish my two small children quite purposely in her presence of the necessity for clean hands before handling food, she doesn't seem to get the point.

For my own peace of mind I have refused to let her dry dishes or set the table. After all, I am responsible for the health of five persons. Yet maybe this has reached mountainous proportions with me.

— MRS. S. H.

Dr. Molner: There is no numerical rule for an "alcoholic."

Anyway, argument of whether a person is an alcoholic is futile. The real question is whether a person has a "drinking problem." Seems to me that makes the answer obvious in this case.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a man alcoholic when he consumes more than five drinks? He just can't stop until he reaches the point of stupor and nausea. This occurs at intervals throughout the year.

Mild Spring Weekend For Most of Nation; Showers Fall Elsewhere

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

April showers dampened scattered sections of the nation today, but most of the country was enjoying a mild spring weekend.

Showers and thundershowers wet spots from Lower Michigan to Oklahoma and there were some sharp temperature contrasts.

Some showers fell in the lower Mississippi Valley, in Maine, the Florida Keys and the central Rockies.

The showers were short and light with the rainfall amounting to no more than around a third of an inch—although three-quarters of an inch of hail pelted Oklahoma City and a quarter of an inch hit Kansas City.

Unseasonably mild temperatures in the 60s and 70s stretched from eastern Texas and Oklahoma through the Ohio Valley and into western New York State.

Today in History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, April 18, the 109th day of 1964. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, 16 overloaded B25s lurched from the deck of the carrier Hornet. Led by Maj. James Doolittle, they sped inland to attack Tokyo, Kobe and Nagoya in the first effort to bring the war to the Japanese homeland.

On this date

In 1755, Paul Revere made his ride from Charlestown to Lexington to announce the approach of British troops from Boston.

In 1906, earthquakes and fire destroyed two-thirds of San Francisco.

In 1916, the United States notified Germany that unless its submarine war policy was abandoned diplomatic relations would be ended.

In 1944, Red army troops captured the Crimean town of Balaklava, famed as the scene of the "Charge of the Light Brigade."

In 1945, the War Department disclosed a grim story of Japanese atrocities against civilians in Manila.

Ten years ago—Dust storms in the southern part of the province of Manitoba, Canada, were reported the worst in 35 years.

Five years ago—President Dwight D. Eisenhower named John Foster Dulles as secretary of state.

One year ago—Dr. Jose Miro Cardona resigned as head of the Cuban Revolutionary Council with a blast at the John F. Kennedy administration's Cuban policy.

State Patrols Have Some Escort Duties

State patrol units do have assigned escort duties in some areas, Appleton Police Chief E. O. Wolff said. He said that a story in the Post-Crescent Thursday indicated that state patrolmen do not have escort duties.

Wolff said that patrol units are often called upon to assist in special escorts of heavy highway machinery, military equipment or in other special cases. He said the units may often escort a special shipment throughout the length of the state.

State patrolmen do not have regular police duties such as county police have, Wolff said. They do not have funeral escorts or requests to handle family disturbances. Duties of state patrolmen are generally concerned with the 8-hour patrol of highway traffic.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

CAN YOU LEARN TO LIKE A JOB YOU HATE?

YES ☐ NO ☐

Yes, at least, sometimes. It can help make it. We think that Sometimes you "hate" a job for reasons not connected with the work itself. You haven't yet learned to do it well; or you don't like the people you work with; or, for some reason, you're afraid of it. As you learn competence and learn to like the people you work with, you may gradually learn to like the work itself. So give both yourself and your job a real chance before you quit or change.

Is the individual a helpless puppet of society?

Yes — No —

No. Each individual is, of necessity, profoundly influenced by society, and necessarily restricted by what he can do. But what is "society"? It is essentially what the individuals in it make it. If everyone is made by society, everyone helps or

Charlie's Attention On Earthy Topics

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

While it isn't sporting to look for old fossils in a bank, it may be all right to seek them ON a bank. Anyhow, I did.

On the limestone siding of the west wall of the Appleton State bank, I discovered a multitude of fossils, but only two of them fair-to-middling specimens.

One was a 600,000,000 year-old fossil brachiopod; the other was a younger neighbor — a sea lily stem better known as a crinoid.

That's on the OUTSIDE of the bank.

Maybe you don't know it and maybe you don't even care, but if you live in Outagamie County you can collect a ten cent bounty on every rat you dig, snare, trap or catch—and turn in.

If you live in Menominee or Shawano County, you can be a member, too. Rats are bountied at the same rate in those counties, too, but nowhere else in Wisconsin.

Want to be a full-fledged foreign correspondent? You can be if you peck out a letter to Letters Abroad, Inc.

That's a non-profit organization which specializes in bringing together adults from 125 foreign countries — for letter writing.

"At the moment," writes Mrs. Fremont Chandler of that organization, "we have many foreigners in our files who seek Americans . . . to write to."

Purpose of the singular organization is, said Mrs. Chandler, "an ultimate aim of a just world peace and also the least expensive way to spread good will."

The address of Letters Abroad: 18 East 60th Street, New York, New York.—10022. Coincidentally, Mrs. Chandler is the sister-in-law of Mrs. Edwin S. Godfrey, 1103 E. North St., Appleton.

Oooooooh, Jacob Heimermann!

I'm calling you to see if you'll let me look at the ancient Indian pipe made of "black stone."

I haven't been able to reach you by telephone to ask permission to look at the pipe, but I'm guessing that you have a fine collector's item.

Is it lustrous, hard? It's probably obsidian, a volcanic glass which western Indians used for ceremonial purposes and for their most elegant arrowheads.

May I see it? May I? May I?

Driven by curiosity, I tried to make a telephonic round-up of professional excavators hereabout who have found something interesting in their digging.

Most reported "nothing unusual," but others told me that some 15 to 18 feet under Appleton there's the litter of an ancient forest. Great trees are strewn about.

Although Wisconsin's glacial age goes back some 55,000 years B.C., most of Appleton's under-surface forests are fewer than 18,000 years old, and all were knocked down by glacial action.

Only one of my diggers had ever found anything "special," and he is John McHugh, a sewer and excavating contractor of 1308 W. Prospect Ave.

Some years ago McHugh accidentally dug into an Indian burial ground near the gate of St. Mary's cemetery. There he found human bones mixed with Indian artifacts, including a spearhead.

Today's big, earthmoving equipment moves so swiftly and gouges out so much soil that finding "something interesting" is mostly just chance.

One must conclude that pick-and-shovel men of years ago added somewhat to our knowledge of those who lived before us; and that the earth moving machinery of today may not be counted upon for making important archeological discoveries.

Earthy column today, hey?

Waupaca Firemen Prevent Fire

Lightning Bolt Nearly Ends State Park Plans

WAUPACA — A bolt of lightning almost brought plans for a state park at the Hartman Creek Fish Hatchery down in shambles about 3:20 p.m. Friday.

Only the fast action of Waupaca and King firemen prevented a grass fire from becoming a major forest fire.

Orville Pomeroy, who lives across the road from the pine tree plantation and apple orchard where the lightning struck, said he saw the flash. He said it appeared to have struck the remains of a wire fence which borders the pine plantation.

The bolt ignited three separate fires along the fence line separating the pine plantation from the orchard.

Crown Fire Prevented

Waupaca firemen, who were still in the fire station after returning from another grass fire south of Badger School, were able to stop the fire before it was able to climb to the higher branches of the pine trees to set off a dreaded crown fire.

In a dozen or more instances, the grass fire was starting to climb trees to reach the explosive top branches before flames were extinguished by firemen.

Les Hobvett, Ogdensburg, and Ronnie Lee, Waupaca, first noticed the fire. They notified Mrs. Gary Pope who called firemen.

Public officials attended an open house at the home of Harold D. Mares, 625 W. Prospect Ave., Friday night to consider the value of the home as a historical building.

Maries is leading a group of citizens who are protesting the widening of the Memorial Drive-Prospect Avenue intersection which would cut a 157 by 43 foot triangle from Mares' land (the old Pierce property).

Mares contests that the property should be preserved as a historical site since he claims it is the first residence in the world with lights furnished by hydro electric power.

City officials present Friday night were Alds. E. V. Krueger, Harold Hannemann, Arthur Mueller, Kenneth Loos, Derald Ahrens and Clifford Radder, and Director of Public Works Robert Bues. Over 150 other officials and prominent citizens were there.

Mares said since his People's Forum letter in Friday night's Post - Crescent, he has been flooded with offers of help and money to make a legal fight.

Rusk Blames Peking,
Hanoi for Warfare
In South Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam "will have peace when Hanoi and Peking have been taught to leave their neighbors alone," U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a welcoming crowd of 600 at Saigon airport Friday.

"You and those of us who are at your side must defeat their effort to impose their own misery upon you," Rusk said.

"That this will be done I have not the slightest doubt, and I am here to make clear once again that we shall help you do it."

Rusk's visit, first to South Viet Nam by an American secretary of state in office, brought Saigon the tightest security arrangements ever imposed for an official American visit. The capital's normally bustling main streets were deserted except for police spaced at close intervals as the motorcade swept through to the American Embassy.

Proxmire Says
Red Rift Seen
In Trade Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Friday a startling drop in trade between Red China and Russia was a better indicator of the widening rift between the Communist nations than their exchange of insults.

The senator said in a statement the Russians and the Red Chinese must rely heavily upon each other economically because of their relative inability to trade extensively with the free world, and "an economic rift is probably even more important than a political schism."

Even though Communist trade figures for 1963 are not yet available, Proxmire said, "the evidence of economic warfare within the Communist bloc is clear."

He said that in 1959 the value of Soviet exports to Communist China was about $955 million, but had fallen to $233 million by 1962. He listed Soviet imports from Communist China in 1959 at $1.1 billion and $516 million in 1962.

"Communist China depends heavily on Russia for machinery and equipment," Proxmire said. "Yet, these purchases have fallen from $598 million to only $27 million in the three years 1959 to 1962. Chinese imports of complete manufacturing plants dropped from $400 million to $9 million."

KAUKAUNA—Firemen spent over an hour Thursday fighting a grass fire in a ravine near Tenth and Spring streets. No damage resulted to surrounding property.

Seven off-duty firemen were called to fight the blaze in brush and long grass.

Nostalgic Ending, However

Milwaukee - Downer College's women choristers chased end-of-the-week gloom from the halls of Lawrence College's Music Drama Center Friday afternoon with a lusty, fun-filled concert of choral, piano, and vocal solo music in Harper Hall.

The 41 young singers were led by H. Eugene Casselman, Downer professor of music. The choir had just returned from a high school concert tour on the Eastern Seaboard, and arranged its Lawrence program as part of exchange activities in progress between the two merging colleges.

The program ran the gamut from sacred works, to folk-songs, to show-tunes.

Handel Anthems

Casselman programmed first a set of three anthems by Handel, Tchesnokoff and Nees, calculated to set an audience on its toes. His choristers provided a full, effervescent sound and plenty of dexterity to accomplish what their director had intended.

Later selections underscored the direct choral quality Casselman sought, some lyrical, some highly rhythmic, but most sung with wide-open tone and much verve.

Among the lighter remaining works were "Shenandoah," "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair," "Fascinatin' Rhythm," and "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho." The choir also sang Hans Leo Hassler's "Can-tate Domino," and a particularly subdued version of Louise Evans' "Velvet Shoes."

Appearing with the choir were vocal soloists Rosemary Bock, Natalie Churchill and Katherine Seitz. Pianist Jean Vetter played the Chopin "Fantasie Impromptu." And a vocal trio, Beth Elliott, Karen Suzuki, and Linda Fruen, offered tunes from Broadway musicals. All performed with considerable charm.

Two nostalgic notes were injected into the program; one, when Casselman noted the end of the Downer choir tour and its subsequent historic end, and a second, when the choir closed its program with a fervent performance of the school's alma mater.

Student Services Counselor Will Be Appointed for Fall Semester

An administrative reorganization of the Appleton Vocational and Adult School as recommended by Director Carl Bertram, will begin next fall.

Major initial change is the appointment of Milton Ness, now guidance counselor and teacher, as full-time student services coordinator, beginning in September.

Ness will be responsible for admissions, psychological testing, counseling, programming, placement, records, student council, interviews with prospective students and conferences with students who may be put on academic probation.

Half Time

Ness now spends about half his time in testing and the remainder teaching courses in communication skills, American institutions, English and industrial safety.

Joe G. Gunderson, coordinator of business education, and E. H. Funk, trades and industry coordinator, will be teaching coordinators with responsibility for curriculum development, course revisions, textbook adoption, teacher improvement and other areas relating to instruction. Their work now includes student counseling. Mrs. Lois Jean Rusch will continue as part-time homemaking coordinator.

Bertram explained that the development of the post-high school area of instruction almost necessitates a different administrative arrangement for student services, curriculum development and supervision of instruction. High school graduates now form the major portion of the vocational school's full-time enrollment, while only a few "compulsory age" (under 18) students are enrolled.

Better Job

The major reason for the changes is to do a more thorough job in the student service area.

Cuba Refugee Says
Youth of Island
Are in a Panic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of 28 youths fleeing Cuba to evade the military draft, which also serves as a labor pool, says "there is panic among young men" because of it.

The exile, Angel Robaina, 18, said he had escaped from a stadium in Oriente Province where 900 draft youths were concentrated.

Robaina was one of 48 refugees arriving in three boats Wednesday.

Last weekend 28 other youths who didn't want to be drafted arrived by boat.

The Castro government has said draftees will be used to harvest sugar cane and other crops.

Pioneer Promoter
Of Oil Deals Dead

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — W. L. Connelly, who promoted million-dollar deals during oil's boom-or-bust era and lived to become a solid industry figure, is dead.

Connelly, who helped found the giant Sinclair Oil holdings, died Friday at a Tulsa hospital eight hours after he became ill at his Tulsa home. He was 91.

Connelly drilled his first well at age 22 in Wood County, Ohio in 1895, and eight years later joined the Kansas oil boom.

He became associated with Harry Sinclair, and worked for him for four months without pay, Connelly recalled later. It was the beginning of a 53-year association with the Sinclair firm.

Connelly was named head of all foreign Sinclair operations in 1928. He retired as chairman of the board of Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. in 1950, but remained active as special consultant.

U. S. Offers Details
On Plan to Freeze
Nuclear Arms Stocks

GENEVA (AP)—The United States has unveiled details of its proposal for a freeze on the major powers' stocks of nuclear missiles and bombers.

In an effort to counter Soviet charges of espionage, U.S. Disarmament Delegate Adrian S. Fisher said no inventory or control of the total number of weapons held by each side would be required.

But Fisher said a rigorous control and inspection system would be set up to prevent a further buildup or improvement of stockpiles.

Fisher told the 17-nation disarmament conference the freeze was the "most significant and potentially far-reaching" of five arms control measures suggested by President Johnson on Jan. 21.

ices program, and to utilize people in the special abilities, Bertram said.

The total reorganization will give a much more effective program of administration, he said.

A new business education teacher has been hired by the Appleton Vocational School for next year. He is Thomas C. Vaughan, who is now completing work for a master of science degree in distributive education at the University of Wisconsin.

Vaughan, who has a bachelor of business administration from UW, has eight years of work experience, more recently with General Telephone of Wisconsin. His service as general commercial training supervisor for the state for the telephone firm prompted his interest in teaching. While attending graduate school, he has been an instructor in the UW School of Commerce. He is a teaching intern this semester at the Milwaukee Vocational and Adult School.

Rougeau Loses Five Votes in Ballot Recount

12th Ward County
Board Seat Goes
To Glenn Pelton

Robert Rougeau, the defeated candidate who contested the results of the 12th Ward supervisor's race in last week's election, lost five votes in a recount by the Appleton Common Council Friday night.

The results of April 7 city election gave the Outagamie County Board seat to incumbent Glenn E. Pelton, 939 E. Washington St., by a 465 to 460 vote.

When the ballots were recounted by the council Friday night, Pelton received 465 votes to Rougeau's 455.

Each candidate received 442 votes on voting machines, but the recount showed Pelton received 23 absentee votes, to Rougeau's 13.

Ballots Unmarked

The five vote difference came in ballots which were unmarked in the supervisor's race. The 12th Ward election board accidentally gave the votes to Rougeau.

The city was represented at the recount by Mayor Clarence Mitchell, City Clerk Eldon Broehm, City Atty. Frederick Froehlich and 14 aldermen.

Rougeau, a supermarket operator, was represented by Hugh Nelson, an attorney. Pelton, who was also represented by an attorney is retired.

Make Original 3-Dimension Flower Picture of Art Paper

BY CAPPY DICK

With scissors, paste and an assortment of colored art paper, a boy or girl can make an attractive three-dimension flower picture. It will be a three-D cut the stems and leaves of the flowers (Figure 2) Paste these on the background, mixing tall stems with short ones

The blossoms are cut next. Use three colors of art paper for each flower. Make some large and others small

Round Bottle Tops

Round bottle tops of various sizes are suitable guides when drawing circles for the flowers. Each flower will require three pieces — a large disk for the petals, a smaller disk of another color for the center of the flower and a third disk, very small, for the stamens. A scallop or fringe the largest disk to make petals (Figure 1) The next disk need not be fringed, but the smallest, representing the stamens, should be finely fringed

Paste the largest disk at the end of a stem, but apply paste only at the center so the petals can be curled outward from the background. Next, paste the center of the flower on the first disk. Then paste the stamens, leaving the fringe free so it can be ruffled outward

The flowers may be of any shapes you desire.

CPUSA Dream Is Comeback Through Youth, Civil Rights

Party Has Only Few Leftovers From Once-Feared Organization

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Communist party of the United States dreams of a comeback for its desperately sick organization.

Gus Hall, current leader of a few thousand leftovers from the once-feared organization, appears to hope his party can zero in on two aspects of American life: youthful restlessness and the civil rights uproar.

Hall is believed planning a convention this summer, possibly in Chicago, to form a overthrow of the government. He jumped bail, dyed his hair, had a telltale wart removed from his neck and skipped to Mexico.

Apprehended and returned, he served extra time for his flight, and was released from prison in 1957. Today he is under indictment again and facing a possible 30 years for refusing to register the Communist party as a Communist-action group. His fate awaits action of the higher courts.

1964 Program
Hall's program for 1964 reads like a Communist dream world. The idea: there must be "left formations" to help elect "new forward-looking progressive congressmen and senators as well as members of state government bodies." By progressive, Communists mean people who can be duped and used, but Hall fails to explain how the Communists will get their men elected.

Among Negroes, the party has practically no support. Recent defectors say the Negro membership is a handful. But what the party seems to hope for is the opportunity to influence Negro leaders who carry the civil rights ball. They'd like to place Communist cadres close to that leadership. How is the party financing its current activity?

There was a time when it did not lack for money. What it couldn't collect from its various enterprises, Moscow would provide. There seems to be precious little money from Moscow today.

Business Enterprises
The party probably still has business enterprises set up under cover fronts. It still collects money from contributions. It still gets money from stray, left-leaning millionaires fascinated by communism.

About 160 Communist fronts still under FBI surveillance are potential sources of funds.

But the party remains in deep trouble. The Russians long have seemed to regard it with contempt. Moscow no longer seems to want it as a source for spies. Perhaps it's because the FBI knows too much about the party.

But Moscow needs a U.S. Communist party. Recently, Moscow solemnly hailed the party and its newspaper, on the Worker's 40th anniversary, and paid tribute to Hall.

Today he is portrayed by Moscow as an American patriot persecuted by U.S. "ruling circles." For Soviet internal consumption, Moscow needs the fiction of a significant U.S. Communist party.

How do Communist leaders get their student hearings? They send out offers to appear as speakers. If these are refused, they make a campus issue of it, accusing the institution of opposing free speech and academic freedom. It can cause enough fuss to work.

Speakers' Bureau
From a speakers' bureau in New York, Communist leaders travel on expense accounts across the country seeking out youthful material.

They get student audiences. Many attend out of curiosity, many to jeer. Possibly the party picks up some recruits in the process.

Another rescue attempt lies in a civil rights drive. Communists try to infiltrate organizations, take part in demonstrations, use eruptions of violence, claim credit for supporting the Negro cause and where possible publicize violence as the result of "white terror."

Civil Rights
"The civil rights front is that on which the main battles are being fought today," says Hall, a tough, bulky former lumberjack who has spent 30 of his 53 years in prisons or under indictment. "It must at all times receive our top attention."

Hall, former party chairman in the Midwest, is a Minnesota product of Finnish descent, born Arvo Mike Halberg. He was one of the party 12 sentenced to prison for advocating violent

Dominican Instructor To Conclude Lecture Series at Oshkosh

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

What to do when the selvage on a bath towel becomes ragged? My bath towels are still in perfect condition except for this awful "edge" eyecore.

Budget

You will notice on some bath towels that one side has the selvage turned back and on some others, both sides are turned back and stitched with a machine. Some bath towels have plain selvages on both sides with no stitching.

After my bath towels are a few years old, and before the selvage wears out completely, I fold it back one-fourth of an inch (the selvage itself) and stitch it twice on my sewing machine. This makes the towel last much longer.

If your selvages are as ragged as you say, you can take the scissors and cut off that little selvage, then fold the towel back and stitch it with two rows of stitching on your sewing machine.

I find it best to use a large stitch when doing this type of work. I also use mercerized thread for this job.

If your bath towels are extremely ragged, like some of mine were, try cutting them into thirds and hemming all four sides with a little hem and double stitching that. These make excellent kitchen towels. Far easier for mother and little kiddies than the usual type white kitchen towels. And just what child or husband doesn't pick up your nice clean tea towel to wipe their hands?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
About this famous nylon net of yours which we all like so well...

I use it as part of my hair equipment! Rectangular pieces make wonderful "end papers" when rolling your hair. The curls dry quickly too as the air circulates through the mesh. They also are easy to wash.

A large square or triangular piece of net holds the hair in place while under the drier!

Dear Heloise:

This is a hint for new mothers

Saturday, April 18, 1964 Appleton Post-Crescent B3

when they are bottle feeding their babies.

Do they know there is an air hole (very, very small) in the side of some nipples? If they will keep this hole clean with a toothpick or needle, they will have less trouble with the nipple collapsing!

Diana Ather

Oh, Diana, thank you for passing along this hint. After checking with a pediatrician I found out that all nipples do not have this hole. But he suggested that any mother could take a warm needle and punch a tiny hole in the part of the nipple nearest the bottle, and that this would help prevent collapsing, too. Thank you a million, you sweet little mother.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
What will remove the tobacco stains caused from a dripping pipe on a man's white cotton shirt pocket?

Elsie Soft

If safe for the fabric, and be sure to test a small hidden spot first... apply rubbing alcohol on a washcloth and rub-a-dub-dub. Can bet that you will have success...

Psychologist to Discuss Child Growth in Series

MENASHA — The second half of "The Family Constellation — Its Stars and Their Orbits" lecture series will open Monday at the First Congregational Church with a talk by Dr. Kenneth C. Jost at 7:30 p.m.

The chief clinical psychologist at the Winnebago County Guidance Center will speak on the developmental aspect of emotional growth in children.

The child growth section of the four-talk lecture series will continue April 27 when Jacques H. Leitzke, clinical psychologist and clinic program director at the guidance center, speaks on the relationships that involve the child, including his relationship with himself.

Family Unit

The lecture series started two weeks ago. Fred Kepfield, center administrator and chief psychiatric social worker, spoke on the family unit and was followed last week by Robert Gellert, center psychiatric social worker, speaking on the relationships involving the family and its members.

The series is being sponsored by the church's Social Action Committee as a part of its program aimed at surveying the youth and family services being offered in the Twin Cities with the hope that they might be improved and consolidated.

Dr. Jost received his training at the University of Illinois where he earned bachelor and master degrees in education, a master degree and his doctor's degree in clinical psychology.

Before coming to the Twin Cities he was staff psychologist and chief clinical psychologist at the Danville, Ill., Veterans Administration Hospital, was an instructor at the Danville Junior College and was a clinical psychologist at the Eastern Illinois Mental Health Unit at Danville.

Leitzke received a bachelor degree at the University of Wisconsin, a master's degree at

Jacques Leitzke

Kent State University in Ohio and did additional graduate work at City College of New York and at Long Island, N. Y. University. Before coming to the Twin Cities he was a school psychologist with the New York Board of Education during which time he was assigned to the famed "Higher Horizons" project.

Possible Step Seen Toward Menasha Mall

MENASHA — Another possible step toward creation of a shopping mall for downtown Menasha appeared this morning when it was revealed the Menasha Bicycle Shop will move to the former Blohm Hardware Store at the corner of Main and Racine Streets and rear entrances will be constructed on both facilities.

The rear entrance facilities as envisioned by plans for the mall will be the third constructed within a small area at that end of Main Street.

The mall project calls for rear entrances constructed on all northside Main Street shops along with a general redevelopment program.

The first step toward putting a front on the Main Street alley was announced several weeks ago by a Menasha dentist, Dr. Andrew T. Schuch, at 58 Racine St. Dr. Schuch will completely remodel that building and build a front in the rear of the building to utilize parking space in the rear.

Cub Scout Writes Thank-You Letter To Fire Department

NEENAH — A letter of appreciation for a recent tour of the Neenah fire station has been received by the department from Chris W. of Cub Scout Troop 125, Neenah.

In the letter, Chris W., whose last name was not known by any of the fire department, said, "Dear Sir, Thank you for showing us around the fire station."

"I liked the part when you slid down the pole."

"Troop 125, Chris W."

The part Chris liked was apparently a demonstration of the technique used by the firemen when they slide down a pole from the second to the first floor in response to an emergency fire call.

Many tours each year are conducted through the fire station in response to requests from youth groups such as Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Boys Brigade and other city organizations.

Telephone Union Ok's New Contract By 4 to 1 Margin

Employees of Fox Valley Area Exchanges Involved in Dispute

CHILTON — Members of the AFL-CIO affiliated union of General Telephone Co., of Wisconsin, have approved a new contract by a four to one statewide vote.

Fox Valley area exchanges operated by the company are in Chilton, Brillion, Kiel, Hilbert, New Holstein, Sherwood, Plymouth, Seymour, Black Creek, Nichols and Shiocton.

The new contract as ratified by the union went into effect March 22 and will be effective for 34 months. The previous contract expired Sept. 21.

During the dispute both parties met on several occasions with federal mediators.

Two Categories

Union demands were in two categories, local and national.

More Duties For Valley Plan Director

Broader duties were assigned the planning director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission in by-law changes approved at the organization's eighth annual meeting Thursday night.

Changes unanimously approved make Director Eugene Franchett responsible for development and administration of the necessary staff organization and for supervision of staff work.

The director was also given authority to draw checks, co-signed by the assistant secretary, for bills up to and including $100 "to facilitate prompt payment of small claims."

Keeping of required records and assisting executive committee in preparing the budget and annual report, are among other duties spelled out in the by-laws.

The death last year of Charles Wood, then chairman, prompted the addition of a section providing for vacancies.

Under the new provision, the executive committee may select a successor to serve until the next annual meeting.

A provision for removal from office by a two-thirds vote was added along with a preamble setting forth the basic purpose of the commission.

National demands concerned the union as a whole while local demands involved workers in the state.

Included were wages, health insurance, pensions and vacations.

The contract as ratified by the union includes pay hikes ranging from three to 10 cents per hour. This is to be calculated on a progressive scale, according to seniority. This will be repeated in January 1965.

It effects three departments of the telephone employees-plant, clerical and traffic.

The company will pay $2 a month toward health insurance for employees signed up in the company's insurance. This to become effective May 1, 1964. On May 1, 1965, the company will increase these benefits by another $2 per month.

Better Pensions

Pensions and vacations were adjusted to provide more benefits.

Previously, an employee had to be with the company 15 years before he received a three-week vacation. With the new contract the time limit was dropped to 13 years.

The contract will effect 939 employees in the company's 196 exchanges throughout the state.

Vacation and wage negotiations can be resumed in January 1966 according to the terms of the contract.

Ratification of the contract ends a seven-month dispute between the union and the company.

On the House Charlie's Attention On Earthy Topics

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

While it isn't sporting to look for old fossils in a bank, it may be all right to seek them ON a bank. Anyhow, I did.

On the limestone siding of the west wall of the Appleton State bank, I discovered a multitude of fossils, but only two of them fair-to-middling specimens.

One was a 600,000,000 year-old fossil brachiopod; the other was a younger neighbor — a sea lily stem better known as a crinoid.

That's on the OUTSIDE of the bank.

Maybe you don't know it and maybe you don't even care, but if you live in Outagamie County you can collect a ten cent bounty on every rat you dig, snare, trap or catch—and turn in.

If you live in Menominee or Shawano County, you can be a member, too. Rats are bountied at the same rate in those counties, too, but nowhere else in Wisconsin.

Want to be a full-fledged foreign correspondent? You can be if you peck out a letter to Letters Abroad, Inc.

That's a non-profit organization which specializes in bringing together adults from 125 foreign countries — for letter writing!

"At the moment," writes Mrs. Fremont Chandler of that organization, "we have many foreigners in our files who seek Americans . . . to write to."

Purpose of the singular organization is, said Mrs. Chandler, "an ultimate aim of a just world peace and also the least expensive way to spread good will."

The address of Letters Abroad: 18 East 60th Street, New York, New York.—10022. Coincidentally, Mrs. Chandler is the sister-in-law of Mrs. Edwin S. Godfrey, 1103 E. North St., Appleton.

Ooooooooooh, Jacob Heimermann!

I'm calling you to see if you'll let me look at the ancient Indian pipe made of "black stone."

I haven't been able to reach you by telephone to ask permission to look at the pipe, but I'm guessing that you have a fine collector's item.

Is it lustrous, hard? It's probably obsidian, a volcanic glass which western Indians used for ceremonial purposes and for their most elegant arrowheads.

May I see it? May I? May I?

Driven by curiosity, I tried to make a telephonic round-up of professional excavators herabout who have found something interesting in their digging.

Most reported "nothing unusual," but others told me that some 15 to 18 feet under Appleton there's the litter of an ancient forest. Great trees are strewn about.

Although Wisconsin's glacial age goes back some 55,000 years B.C., most of Appleton's under-surface forests are fewer than 18,000 years old, and all were knocked down by glacial action.

Only one of my diggers had ever found anything "special," and he is John McHugh, a sewer and excavating contractor of 1308 W. Prospect Ave.

Some years ago McHugh accidentally dug into an Indian burial ground near the gate of St. Mary's cemetery. There he found human bones mixed with Indian artifacts, including a spearhead.

Today's big, earthmoving equipment moves so swiftly and gouges out so much soil that finding "something interesting" is mostly just chance.

One must conclude that pick-and-shovel men of years ago added somewhat to our knowledge of those who lived before us; and that the earth moving machinery of today may not be counted upon for making important archeological discoveries.

Earthy column today, hey?

New Census Area Division Being Planned for Valley

Districts of 4,000 Population Being Sought, Commission Told

Plans to divide the Fox Valley region into areas of about 4,000 persons each for census purposes were announced Thursday night at the eighth annual Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission meeting.

Planning Director Eugene Franchett said the Census Bureau allows metropolitan areas that have a central city with a population of 50,000 or more to map the entire area in small tracts, and obtain census data for the individual tracts.

"The value of having census data on population characteristics, family income, housing characteristics, and other information is of great importance not only to the regional and local plan commissions, but also to individuals, firms and governmental agencies," Franchett said.

He said the commission staff is assisting a community census tract committee in determining the location and limits of various tracts.

Added Significance

"The project takes on added significance, since, once defined the boundaries for the various tracts are fixed for all time," he said.

Representatives of the Fox Valley UW Ford Urban Team also are working on tracing plans.

Agencies and organizations throughout the metropolitan area which might have an interest in census information for specific areas are being asked to help in deciding the boundary lines.

Franchett said when the 1970 census is completed, reports will be available for these tracts.

The director said other plans for 1964 include a continuation of projects in 1963.

An up to date land use report will be completed this year. The report will show how land in the Valley is used, and how uses have changed since the commission's comprehensive plan was completed last year.

More detailed work on a proposed Fox Cities expressway system is needed, Franchett said. He commended the commission's technical advisory committee for its work on the proposal.

During 1964, he said, all segments will be recorded on official maps of the various communities.

Work on a soil survey and analysis will continue with hopes of beginning the actual surveying.

The 1964 goals of the uniform building code committee are to provide modern codes for all municipalities in the region and to achieve a high degree of uniformity among the communities.

Advising and providing member communities with model zoning ordinances will continue this year. Combined Locks has adopted such an ordinance, and similar ones are before the village of Little Chute and the city of Neenah.

Commission Chairman Ralph E. Risley, vice chairman Donald W. Colburn and treasurer Arthur Vanderheiden were re-elected for one-year terms. Risley was elected last year following the death of Charles W. Wood, then chairman.

Wauwac Firemen Prevent Fire

Lightning Bolt Nearly Ends State Park Plans

WAUPACA — A bolt of lightning almost brought plans for a state park at the Hartman Creek Fish Hatchery down in shambles about 3:20 p.m. Friday.

Only the fast action of Wauwac and King firemen prevented a grass fire from becoming a major forest fire.

Orville Pomeroy, who lives across the road from the pine tree plantation and apple orchard where the lightning struck, said he saw the flash. He said it appeared to have struck the remains of a wire fence which borders the pine plantation.

The bolt ignited three separate fires along the fence line separating the pine plantation from the orchard.

Crown Fire Prevented

Wauwac firemen, who were still in the fire station after returning from another grass fire south of Badger School, were able to stop the fire before it was able to climb to the higher branches of the pine trees to set off a dreaded crown fire.

In a dozen or more instances, the grass fire was starting to climb trees to reach the explosive top branches before flames were extinguished by firemen.

Les Hotvedt, Ogdensburg, and Ronnie Lee, Waupaca, first noticed the fire. They notified Mrs. Gary Pope who called firemen.

Appleton Woman Dies Of Stroke After Collapsing in Driveway

Mrs. Fred Kafura, 804 W. Summer St., wife of the founder of the Kafura Electric Service, collapsed and died at her home about 11 a.m. Friday.

Appleton police and fire department rescue units rushed emergency aid to the stricken woman who fell on the driveway at her home. She was found by a neighbor who summoned help.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said death was caused by a stroke. Mrs. Kafura was pronounced dead at a hospital by a doctor. The woman was in her late 60's, Kemps said.

Informational Meeting Series Intended to Prepare Electors For Decisive Referendum Vote

MARION — Plans for the construction of a new elementary school here and the proposed project's effects on schools in Joint District No. 3 will be aired at a series of informational meetings.

The meetings are intended to prepare district electors for an advisory referendum planned soon. The referendum will decide the new school project's fate.

Slated for review at the meetings are the current situation in the district and the board's solutions of the problems. Meetings are set for 8:30 p.m. Thursday at Big Falls; 8:30 p.m. April 27, Caroline; 8:30 p.m. April 30, Marion, and 8:30 p.m. May 4, Leopolis. All will be held in community schools and will be conducted by members of the board of education.

The district owns land here for the new building.

Tentative plans call for the project to be financed by notes rather than bonding the district. A committee comprised of Murray Meyer, James Rogers and William Graper has been appointed to work out financing details with Chaner - Newman Co., Chicago.

Along with the new school construction, District Superintendent Lloyd Nell has proposed a plan to specialize instructions in three country schools — Lake Michael, Maple Valley and Sunrise.

An example cited was having Lake Michael School handle the first and second grades; Sunrise, grades three and four; and Maple Valley, grades five and six. Nells said he felt this would enable the teachers to do a better job by not spreading the school day over many subjects and many grades.

Not Enough Time

The existing time allotment of seven minutes a day for each subject is not nearly enough time to prepare students for high school, Nell said.

The plan has been given board approval and a meeting is scheduled at 8:30 p.m. Monday at Maple Valley School to explain it to parents of students involved.

On Nell's recommendation, the board decided to hire a curriculum coordinator for the 1964-65 school year at an estimated cost of $600. Also approved by the board was Nell's request to hire a layman to supervise study halls and free teachers for instructional work.

Nell was instructed to consult Dr. William McInnis and the State Department of Public Instruction on the need for physical examinations of seventh grade students and those entering high school.

Youth Dies After Playing

George Pompa, 19, Suffocates After Attack of Vomitus

A 19-year-old youth who apparently became sick after playing pom-pom-pullaway and football near his home, was found dead by companions about 8:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said George LeRoy Pompa, 2114 W. Second St., died of suffocation from vomitus. He was the son of Mrs. Lillian Pompa.

Authorities said Pompa and four or five other youths were playing football about one hour and then a running game called pom-pom-pullaway for about 90 minutes. Pompa and another player sat down and rested under a tree. The youth told authorities he left Pompa for several minutes and when he returned he found him lying face down on the ground.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Sandra Simmons of Erie, Pa., is a champion wheelchair athlete. Struck down by polio at the age of nine, she learned that she would never walk again. Yet, through her strong faith and the guidance of her parents, she was determined to live an active and meaningful life.

During her first year of college, misfortune struck again. Her wheelchair turned over and she broke her leg. While recuperating at home, she enrolled at the Pennsylvania rehabilitation center and developed such skill that she competed first in the National, then last year the International Wheelchair Olympics. At the National in New York, she was first in the shot put and all swimming events; second in discus and bowling and third in javelin. At the International meet in England she again was first in shot put and swimming free style.

Sandra says, "With a great deal of practice and the willingness of God, I want to return to New York this June and try out for competition in Tokyo in November."

Archbishop Wants Church To Do More Welfare Work

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE
LEEDS, England (AP)—Dr. Donald Coggan, archbishop of York, wants the Church of England to tear down some of its church buildings and use the money for missionary and welfare work at home and abroad.

Dr. Coggan said this could be done in many places, especially in some of the country villages where the churches are half empty because the bulk of the congregation has moved to the cities.

"It is wholly wrong," Dr. Coggan told a church congress here, "to spend money heating and maintaining up to five churches in village communities, half of which had moved away into the cities."

"The money should be spent on the evangelizing of England, or, more important, on the people overseas who are crying out for the Gospel."

"I have noted that some villages have a parish priest and two or three churches, and a congregation only large enough to fill one of them. This represents a shameful waste of manpower and buildings."

"They should join together, pull down the buildings and move to the suburbs, sending the money saved to Africa, India and the Philippines."

Dr. Coggan also urged his Church to do more for the welfare of foreign students who come here to study at universities.

"Many of them come from Christian backgrounds and it is up to us to see that they do not go back disillusioned and paganized by what they see in our cities and universities," he said.

"We should also guard these students and our own children from evil. Men and women of good will should protest to local bookshops against the sale of salacious literature. If the protests are ignored, these people should ban the shops."

Former Appleton Man Claims Son Kidnaped Him

CHICAGO (AP)—A former Wisconsin public relations man obtained a warrant charging his 18-year-old son with kidnaping him in Dayton, Ohio, and turning him over to the Cook County sheriff's office in Chicago.

The warrant signed by a Felony Court judge charged Kirk Croucher of Chicago with using unlawful restraining and knowingly detaining his father, Shelby Croucher, 50, of Dayton, against his will.

The elder Croucher was employed by a Milwaukee advertising agency and worked as public relations director for the Brady Co. of Appleton, Wis., until January, 1962. He also operated his own public relations firm from his home in Brookfield, Wis.

The elder Croucher charged that his son by his third wife and two unidentified youths handcuffed him and drove him to Chicago last Jan. 22. The father then was sentenced to Cook County Jail for being $12,356 in arrears in payments for support of Kirk and another son, Shelby, Jr., 20.

Croucher, whose fourth wife is a former Milwaukee advertising firm secretary, said an Ohio attorney had advised him he was not responsible under a divorce decree for support of the sons after they reached 18.

Some Youngsters Still Imbued With Goodness

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—All is not bad with today's youngsters, regardless of what some oldsters say.

Take, for instance, an experience by Ray Williams, plant manager of a local laundry, to prove the point.

When he reported for work Thursday, he noticed a small window had been broken, and a small hand-written note pinned to the front door.

The note said: "Dear sir: 'I broke your window with my hardball. If you would please tell me how much it would cost to put it back in, I will be glad to pay for it.'"

The note was signed "Ann" and listed her home address.

When Williams talked to the girl's parents, he learned she had told her parents what she had done when they found her crying.

Teaching New Career For St. Norbert Pianist

Joseph M. Cohen Arranger for Big-Name Bands Before Joining College Music Staff

BY JINGO
For any musician who wants to compare the merits of being with a big-time band vs. the academic pursuits of music as a career, contact Joseph M. Cohen of the St. Norbert College music department.

Cohen, 46, is beginning a new career this year—teaching music. It represents a significant change from what he was doing just a few short years ago—playing piano and acting as an arranger for big-name bands.

Cohen makes his debut before a Northeastern Wisconsin audience Sunday when he presents a piano recital at the Hall of Fine Arts' auditorium on the St. Norbert campus. The recital is at 8:15 p.m., and no admission will be charged.

Jingo
Cohen joined the St. Norbert staff this year following completion of work on his Ph.D. degree at the University of Rochester's Eastman School of Music last summer. This is his first year as a full-time music teacher.

Previously, he had been associated as a pianist and arranger with such big-name bands as the Sauter-Finnegan orchestra, Vincent Lopez and Gene Krupa.

Cohen took time out from his recital preparation this week to talk about why he made the transformation.

Dead End
"Artistically, you're following a dead end with a big-name band," the native of New York said.

"Everything is commercial. I remember when I once presented an arrangement to a band leader. His immediate concern was that it might be too loud for the people eating in an adjoining dining room."

Choice Not Easy
"You spend years learning an instrument. There comes a time in a serious musician's life when you have to choose one or the other paths. . .," he said.

Turning his back on something that he had been doing for 25 years was not easy, Dr. Cohen said. "And if it was a matter of money, I would still be doing the other thing."

Rusty Hamer On Thomas Show 12 Years Actor 5 When Series Started, Now He's High School Senior

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Gee, I hope I don't fall into obscurity," says 17-year-old Rusty Hamer. "I'm going to do everything I can to avoid it."

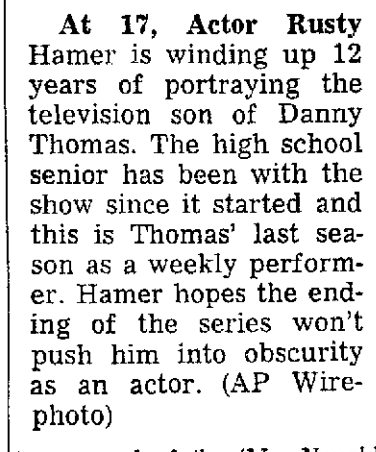

Offhand the picture of a high school senior worrying about obscurity might seem faintly ridiculous. But Rusty is not an ordinary 17-year-old. He has just finished an acting engagement that lasted 12 years, about as far back as he can remember.

The boy played Danny Thomas' son in the comedian's weekly television show, and Rusty was the only cast member who spanned the series' entire history. He made the pilot film when he was only 5, but already a performer before women's clubs and in community theatricals.

Show Retiring
The Danny Thomas show filmed its final segment last month following Danny's voluntary retirement as a weekly television performer.

Without that prospect, Rusty has had to give some solid thought to the future.

"I want to work right away, and the prospects are good," he said. "They're interested in me

At 17, Actor Rusty Hamer is winding up 12 years of portraying the television son of Danny Thomas. for several of the 'Mr. Novak' shows at MGM. Walt Disney is interested in me. And there are chances I might do shows like 'Dr. Kildare,' 'Ben Casey' and 'Arrest and Trial.' I'd like that. I want to do some dramatic shows. There were some dramatic moments in the Thomas show, but mostly it was played for laughs."

But it won't be all work for Rusty's future. He'll be graduated from Palisades High School in June and go on to college.

Conquering Alcohol Major Do-It-Yourself Project

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 25 and my husband is 27. We've been married four years. Don is a good person but when he drinks too much he is impossible.

About eight times a year he goes on a toot. The first clue is when he doesn't come home for dinner. As the night wears on I go crazy. When he shows up the next afternoon all he says is, "Don't ask me any questions."

Last week Don got drunk in a restaurant and picked an argument with a college kid. They ended up in a catsup fight, squirting each other with plastic bottles. We were ordered to leave.

I've tried talking myself dry but Don insists he has no problem. I even left him twice but he begged me to come back — and promised to do better. Please tell me what to do.

Dear Dodo: Your husband is an alcoholic. He needs more help than your threats. The city health department can lead you to groups which offer help to alcoholics. Of course you can't drag the guy.

Conquering alcoholism is the daddy of all do-it-yourself projects. For you I suggest Al-Anon Family, a branch of A.A. which helps the families of alcoholics understand the nature of the illness. Some Al-Anons eventually get the problem drinker to choose the road to sobriety. Good luck to you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me what to do about me. Yes, Ann, you are reading right. I am the problem.

My parents are the greatest. I can't say the same for myself. I will be 16 next week and I am the rottenest daughter in 50 states.

Deep down inside I feel like a real beast because everyone thinks I'm an angel. That's because I'm so sweet to outsiders. If they could get a load of me at home they'd be shocked.

Please don't tell me I am going through a stage because it's lasting too long for that. How can I get over being such a lemon-puss at home? Thank you. — Miss Witch

Dear Miss: The fact that you accept responsibility for the trouble is encouraging. Most teen-agers who have problems with their parents blame the parents. Resolve to control your temper. Count to 20 if 10 isn't enough. Pitch in at home and offer to do things. Everyone has grouchy spells. When you feel one coming on go off by yourself so you don't make life unpleasant for your family. You can do better because you want to.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a respectable girl who works in a bank. The woman in the next apartment is an attractive brunet. We were on a "good-morning, good-evening" basis until two months ago when her husband was shipped overseas for a oil company.

A week after he left I was invited to a nice party. The man who invited me asked me to find an interesting date for his friend. On a wild impulse I thought of my brunet neighbor. She was delighted and allowed as how she was lonely and that I was very kind to think of her.

To make a long story short, the brunet and the friend hit it off so well together that he is over there every night.

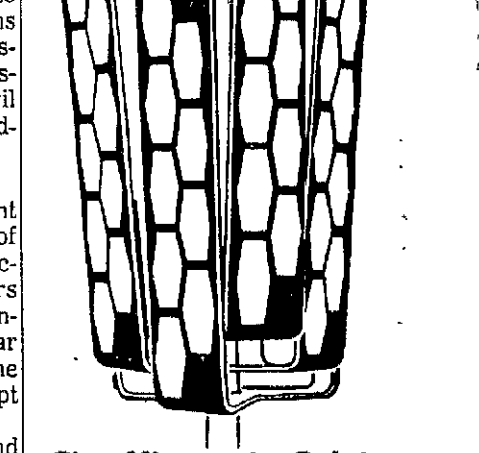

Am I to blame? I feel guilty, even though I keep telling myself a woman of this type would have taken the cheating route, eventually, with no help from me. Comment, please. — Upset

Dear Up: You are indeed to blame, but you can do nothing about it now. It's true that in time the brunet may have stepped around on her own, but the fact remains that you fixed her up with this one.

What's the matter with you? Don't you know any single women? Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)

Title VI — Nondiscrimination in Federally Assisted Programs

Title VI is the shortest major title in the Civil Rights Bill, but it has provoked major controversy. It is reprinted in full on this page today.

In concise language, the bill enunciates as a national policy that "no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

It then directs all federal departments and agencies to take action to carry out this policy. In doing so, agencies are empowered to withhold federal funds in specific instances where, after a hearing, it has been found that a recipient is practicing discrimination. Such a finding is subject to judicial review.

Supporters declare that "the policy underlying the enactment of Title VI is so fundamentally correct that there is little need for an additional statement in its behalf." They state that if the federal government provides financial assistance in any way from tax funds collected from all its citizens the government has the right to see to it that no citizen is denied the benefits of such assistance.

Instances are cited in which Negroes are denied admittance to hospitals financed at least in part with federal funds, and are denied the benefits of school hot lunch programs, surplus commodity distribution, etc.

They point out that federal agencies are commanded to seek voluntary compliance with nondiscrimination rules before instituting action to withhold funds. They also declare that the provisions are directed against state agencies or institutions rather than against individuals. And they further point out that any action to withhold funds is subject to court review.

A great deal of the opposition to this title has been based on false information.

Before the bill passed the House, that body added an amendment exempting from federal assistance programs affecting contracts "of insurance or guaranty." This means that the measure would not apply to programs such as the Federal Deposit

Insurance Corporation, Federal Housing Authority or GI loans.

Before and after the bill was amended opponents rushed into print with cries that the bill would prevent homeowners from selling or renting to a person of their choice, or realtors from doing the same. They declared it brought banks and savings and loan associations under its regulations.

Thus much of the scare opposition to the bill was discredited because it was based on false information.

Other opponents center their attack on the authority to cut off funds, calling this "vindictive and punitive." They cite it as a fearsome extension of federal control over states, municipalities and individuals.

There is still some confusion over the application of this title which the Post-Crescent believes should be cleared up.

Some supporters state that it will not apply to any individuals but only to state agencies and institutions through which federal financial assistance is funneled. Sen. Nelson points out for instance that it will not apply to home owners or realtors or farmers. He bases this interpretation on the House amendment excluding programs of insurance or guaranty.

Yet opponents claim that it will apply to individuals receiving such benefits as veterans benefits and pensions, unemployment compensation, Social Security, or farm subsidies.

This title will be made effective through the regulations which are subsequently issued by various federal departments or agencies. There are some protections provided over the scope of these regulations. They are subject to public hearings and approval of the president before they become effective.

But this newspaper believes that the language of this title is still too vague and indefinite, and that it should be made more specific. We believe it is perfectly proper for the federal government to require states receiving federal aid to make certain that all citizens are eligible to receive such aid, and to withhold aid from those states which refuse to comply. But we also believe the title should be clarified to make it clear that it does not apply to individual recipients, such as farmers, veterans or pensioners.

officials and the inspectors themselves, but contractors and others whose opinions were sampled before the committee decided to go on record for the reorganization.

Probably the most important underlying reason for having one inspection department instead of a splinter operation is that it will make for efficient and strict enforcement of new building codes to be adopted soon.

The Common Council should be receptive to the committee's recommendation. All things considered, it represents another forward step in streamlining the operation of municipal government in a community where expansion continues to flourish.

Republican party to hold a primary election at the same time as the Democrats although the Republicans don't have any contests or haven't so far. The Democrats are quite right in frowning upon what is rather a hand-picked list of Republican candidates far removed from any bother with election by the people. But then the laws would require any primary winner to have received at least 10 per cent of the total for both primaries, something of an impossibility at this stage of Republican resurgence. And it would require a state convention with delegates from at least 30 of the 82 counties and county convention with delegates from at least 50 per cent of each county's precincts. Since almost all Republican strength is in the cities, this again is almost an impossibility. The country "red necks" are unlikely to be able even to say "Republican" without spitting.

The Democrats have tried nobly to justify their plans by charging that the Republican party "is a closed corporation." This is to a large extent true but the real motive can be found in one Democratic slogan to "stamp out Republicanism for another 100 years." And certainly in the background is the fear that Republicans might even try to muster a Negro vote if victory ever came within sight.

A reasonable percentage of the electorate is an understandable qualification in states where there is a 2-party system. But Mississippi in no way can claim that position.

I quote, "there are some people who will vote against me, but they're not Republicans at all, they're just bigots."

Well the election results are in and tabulated and it is enlightening to the good citizens of our state who voted for this man for governor to be classified as bigots. The vote tabulation reveals that well over 260,000 voters did not agree with his thinking and were not about to be denied the

In the Senate of the United States

Title VI — Nondiscrimination in Federally Assisted Programs

Sec. 601. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of any other law, no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.

Sec. 602. Each Federal department and agency which is empowered to extend Federal financial assistance to any program or activity, by way of grant, loan, or contract other than a contract of insurance or guaranty, shall take action to effectuate the provisions of section 601 with respect to such program or activity. Such action may be taken by or pursuant to rule, regulation, or order of general applicability and shall be consistent with achievement of the objectives of the statute authorizing the financial assistance in connection with which the action is taken. No such rule, regulation or order shall become effective unless and until approved by the President.

After a hearing, compliance with any requirement adopted pursuant to this section may be effected (1) by the termination of or refusal to grant or to continue assistance under such program or activity to any recipient as to whom there has been an express finding of a failure to comply with such requirement, or (2) by any other means authorized by law: Provided, however, That no such action shall be taken until the department or agency concerned has advised the appropriate person or persons of the failure to comply with the requirement and has determined that compliance cannot be secured by voluntary means. In the case of any action terminating, or refusing to grant or continue, assistance because of failure to comply with a requirement imposed pursuant to this section, the head of the Federal department or agency shall file with the Committees of the House and Senate having legislative jurisdiction over the program or activity involved a full written report of the circumstances and the grounds for such action. No such action shall become effective until thirty days have elapsed after the filing of such report.

Sec. 603. Any department or agency action taken pursuant to section 602 shall be subject to such judicial review as may otherwise be provided by law for similar action taken by such department or agency on other grounds. In the case of action, not otherwise subject to judicial review, terminating or refusing to grant or to continue financial assistance upon a finding of failure to comply with any requirement imposed pursuant to section 602, any person aggrieved (including any State or political subdivision thereof and any agency of either) may obtain judicial review of such action in accordance with section 10 of the Administrative Procedure Act, and such action shall not be deemed committed to unreviewable agency discretion within the meaning of that section.

Looking Backward

Copperhead Press Criticized

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for April 21, 1864.

We are not surprised that the Copperhead press are obliged to publish the atrocities at Fort Pillow, Tenn., as a matter of news, yet have little or no censure for the (rebel) perpetrators.

All their censure and spate is reserved for President Lincoln and his Cabinet, while Jeff Davis and his traitors go almost scot free.

It would be inconsistent with their lifelong course. They well know that slavery brutalizes men and prepares them for the commission of every crime, that it fitted the rebels for treason, that the butchery of rebel soldiers will never stand in their way of success. Knowing this, they have always defended slavery and slaveholders.

They defended it before the war in all its inhuman practices; defended it when it attempted murder in the Senate of the United States. Why should they have anything to right to think for themselves. Evidently we should have fallen in line and be marshalled into his army of stooges and therefore become subservient to his orders. Failing to do so merits us the title of bigot and this bestowed upon us by our esteemed governor.

In our opinion we certainly can do without him as a leader especially when we have men of high intelligence and integrity and who would appreciate voters who think for the good of our state. I voted for this man, however I as well as other bigots will be out in force this coming election and defeat this man and stop his take-over of our mental capacities and right to think.

Horicon Marsh Reveals More People Enjoy Watching Wild Life

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — A routine news release from the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture the other day reported on a study showing that the goose watchers of the state probably outnumber the goose hunters. The researchers discovered that at Horicon Marsh, which annually provides the most celebrated concentrations of wild geese in Wisconsin, there were more than 75,000 visitors last year who came to watch the birds, and only about 45,000 who came with the idea of shooting them.

The incident may strike some critical and burdened taxpayers as a classic example of boondoggling, but it may also tell something important about the direction of the Wisconsin "conservation movement."

This and other bits and pieces of evidence will sooner or later persuade the conservation policy-makers that the proprietary interest and control of policy in wildlife management and related subjects by the fisherman and hunter is becoming outdated.

MEANING

The changing conception of what is "conservation" and who is a "conservationist" is one of the root causes of the struggle for jurisdiction that has been going on in the state government between the Conservation Commission and the State Department of Resource Development.

As far as the public knows, the Conservation Dept. tends to represent the men and women whose interest is in taking fish and game for the pan.

The Resource Development Dept., shrewdly and effectively, has taken a posture of broader public interest and service, embracing all of the manifold public recreational enthusiasms that relate to the outdoors and its values, but without specific or restrictive reference to the gun and the creel.

Wyngaard

It was because Gov. Nelson three years ago doubted the breadth of interest and imagination of the Conservation Dept. establishment that he deliberately put his new recreational land buying program beyond its control, to its resentment and discomfiture. Gov. Reynolds lately has followed that precedent and although it now appears likely that there will be some compromise amendments to the so-called ORAP law, it is unlikely that the Conservation Commission will get the exclusive control that it wants and that it probably should have.

BAD BREAKS

In a fair account, this development is an unfortunate one for the present heads of the conservation administration and one for which they are not responsible. It is a public habit of mind that is involved here. Because the Conservation Commission is concerned with deer hunting regulations and trout limits and kindred matters and because such affairs are traditionally newsworthy, its public image is one of primary involvement with hunting and fishing matters.

But the department's leaders are expertly aware of the changing and broadening of their constituency. The long-range planning report recently published by Director L. P. Voigt was replete with proof. Hunting with the camera, the document said at one point, may one day overtake hunting with a gun as a recreational outlet for the public.

Yet the department is a prisoner of its history and reputation. News editors continue to describe it as "game body." Reporters assigned to it emphasize fish and game considerations. It continues to rely upon the Wisconsin Conservation Congress as a mechanism for public advisory service, although that organization is often dominated by the harvest interest and its commercial auxiliaries.

Thus the rival agency has found an opportunity to serve the broader public interest in the outdoors, and conservation administration has become illogically and perhaps dangerously fragmented.

the difference between the support either received — one in 1933 and one on April 7, 1964?

At least the Southern "coonass" has some integrity. He admits his distrust and fear whereas his Northern counterpart hides his real feelings behind lip-service to pseudo-tolerance.

Someone has said, "The Southerner says, 'We don't care if you live with us, just don't work with us.' and the Northerner answers, 'We don't care if you work with us, just don't live with us.'" April 7 seems to bear this out.

On the other hand, if this was simply an attempt by a few Republicans to politically embarrass a Democratic candidate, as is suspected by a few editorial writers, then Civil Rights becomes a political football and the rights of millions are threatened by a trick as shabby as any ever perfected. Now, Wallace can claim a victory for his views. If ballot switching gave him this claim, then Republicans may return to their cabin in Ripon and shout, "See, Abe. We haven't forgotten the 'Bloody Shirt.'" And they may also shout hosannas to the memory of Andrew Johnson, who was impeached for the only sensible approach to the South taken since Fort Sumter.

If this is the attitude of Wisconsinites, then we shall become self-imposed exiles forever.

Joey Jay Pitches 6-Hitter as Reds Tip Dodgers, 7-3

Giants Defeat Cards in 10; Philadelphia Outlasts Cubs

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joey Jay won. Roger Craig didn't.

Jay and Craig, two of baseball's biggest losers last season with 40 losses attributed to their strong right arms, made their first starts of the National League season Friday night and neither came away a loser.

Jay, 7-18 with Cincinnati last season, was tagged for two homers but allowed only six hits in all as the Reds handed the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers their third consecutive loss, 7-3. It was Jay's first complete game since last Aug. 16.

Craig, who lost 18 straight and wound up with a 5-22 record for the New York Mets last year, pitched five innings of no-hit ball for St. Louis, but wasn't involved in the decision by the time the Cardinals were finished losing to San Francisco, 5-4 in 10 innings.

Craig was in a weirdie. Through five innings, he was untouchable, and when he left after seven innings he had allowed only three hits. Yet, he was trailing 4-3.

Peterson Single

Jose Pagan started the sixth for the Giants with a walk, then pinch hitter Cap Peterson collected the first hit off Craig, a single to right. Matty Alou sacrificed the runners along before Chuck Hiller lined a single that brought in the first run.

Then Craig made a big mistake, and Willie Mays hit a big homer, his fourth of the season 400 feet over the right center field fence.

Everything was being hit over the fence at Chicago, where Philadelphia outlasted the Cubs 10-8 in an eight-homer battle. Elsewhere, Frank Bolling's two homers led Milwaukee to a 5-2 victory over Houston and Willie Stargell rapped four hits as Pittsburgh spoiled the New York Mets home opener in New Shee Stadium, 4-3.

The Giants were able to collect only one more hit after Craig left. That came in the 10th when reliever Bobby Shantz walked Jim Davenport and Jim Hart followed with a single. After Pagan sacrificed, Shantz intentionally walked Del Crandall, and gave way to Ron Taylor. Taylor struck out Jay Alou, but proceeded to force in the winning run by walking Hiller on four pitches.

Jay got just about all the support he needed from first baseman Deron Johnson, who homered, doubled, singled, scored three runs and drove in two. Vada Pinson also homered for the Reds while Leo Cardenas stroked three hits and batted in two runs. Ron Fairly and Tommy Davis homered for the Dodgers. The loser was Pete Reimer.

Phils Pull Ahead

The Phillies pulled ahead to stay in the fifth when starting pitcher Art Mahaffey hit a three-run homer and Richie Allen and Roy Sievers connected for consecutive shots, all off Dick Ellsworth. The Cubs fired a five-homer salvo, Billy Williams hitting a pair and Ron Santo, Lou Brock and Billy Cowan one each. Johnny Klippstein won it in relief.

Stargell lashed a homer, a double and two singles, scoring twice and driving in two runs before a crowd of 48,736. Singles by Stargell, Donn Clendenon

Baseball's Taj Mahal Opens

NEW YORK (AP) — First we find out that Cassius Clay can't add. And now it turns out that the new scoreboard at the spanking new home of the New York Mets can't spell.

But there is one thing you can still count on in this inconstant world. The Mets still can't win. Even in the Taj Mahal of baseball.

The Mets, already snuggled down in their old tenth-place home by virtue of two defeats on the road, came home to new $25-million Shea Stadium Friday to open it up before nearly 50,000 enthusiasts.

Most of those enthusiasts had been on safari a good part of the morning. They had been part of a monumental traffic jam. Everything is monumental at Shea Stadium.

Massive Jam

Thousands of motorists, backed up as much as three miles on the mass of arteries leading to the ball park, even took to abandoning their cars along the shoulders, and began walking to the stadium.

Finally, the jam became so massive that police appealed to radio stations to ask fans heading for the ball park to try other methods of transportation. Some fans did. Some didn't.

Some stopped off at the World's Fair, which isn't open yet. Police put in hurried calls for towing equipment to get the cars out of World's Fair sites, but had to give it up. The city of New York does not have that much towing equipment.

Inside the Taj Mahal, it was a little like arriving at a cocktail party to find the hostess with her hair still up in curlers.

Parts of the outfield were so swampy they should have posted signs warning against dinosaurs.

One fellow said he just followed directions in the parking lot and wound up behind a bulldozer and couldn't get out for 20 minutes.

But once in the park the citizenry must have been impressed by the multi-colored, multi-escalated and many-restaured palace.

Boston's Lamabe Hurls Best Game of Career, Whips White Sox, 4-1

Trade 'Throw-In' Allows 5 Hits; Twins Lose, 4-3

BY MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Lamabe, thrown into the trade that sent Dick Stuart to Boston, has thrown the Red Sox a problem by pitching the best game of his major league career.

The 27-year-old Lamabe pitched the first complete game of his three-year major league career Friday, whipping the Chicago White Sox 4-1 on a five-hitter.

Following the game, the Red Sox found themselves searching for a relief pitcher to go with Dick Radatz. The right-handed Lamabe had the job last season after coming to Boston from Pittsburgh.

But now the victory over Chicago has catapulted him into the No. 2 starting assignment behind Bill Monbouquette.

Strong Arm

"Lamabe didn't surprise me," Boston Manager Johnny Pesky said after the game. "He's got a real strong arm and throws a lot of pitches, but he got stronger as the game went along. I thought his last four innings were real good."

Lamabe, who pitched in more innings last year than Radatz, got the chance to start because Gene Conley is ailing. It was on the third time Lamabe ever had started a game, the other two coming in 1963.

While the Red Sox won their second game in two tries, Washington handed Minnesota its first loss after two victories, 4-3. John Romano powered Cleveland to a 6-4 triumph over Kansas City, Baltimore nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 in 11 innings and the Los Angeles Angels whipped Detroit 8-3.

Lamabe held his own cause with a double and a single in three times at bat. His double touched off a two-run burst in the third inning. He scored as rookie Dalton Jones tripled on

Eddie Perkins Will Defend Title Tonight

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Eddie Perkins of Chicago defends his world junior welterweight boxing championship here tonight against Bunny Grant of Jamaica.

Perkins has ruled a slight favorite the past several days, but it wouldn't be surprising if the odds were even at fight time. Grant, the British Empire lightweight champion, has been so sharp in his workouts that he ended his training a day ahead of time.

The 15-round bout in National Stadium has created unprecedented interest since Grant is considered to have a good chance of dethroning Perkins.

Bolling Slams 2 Homers as Braves Stop Houston, 5-2

Hank Fischer Hurls the Full Route

HOUSTON (AP)—Slender Frank Bolling turned slugger and fire-balling Hank Fischer became the first Milwaukee pitcher to go the distance this season Friday night as the Braves posted their second straight victory over the Houston Colts 5-2.

Bolling, a veteran second baseman who weighs less than 175 pounds, cracked two homers and a single and Fischer settled down after a wobbly start to finish with a seven-hitter in boosting the Braves to the .500 mark with a 2-2 record.

Bolling broke a scoreless deadlock with a homer into the left field bleachers in the third, but the Colts bounced right back to tie the count on singles by Eddie Kasko, Nellie Fox and Pete Runnels.

Into the Stands

In the fifth, Bolling put the Braves in front to stay by connecting with one of Skinny Brown's knuckle balls and sending it into the stands in left.

Joe Torre launched a three-run seventh with a single to center. Ty Cline, running for Torre, went to third on a hit-and-run single by Ed Bailey and scored as Bolling poked a single to right. After a fielder's choice for the first out and a sacrifice bunt by Fischer, Felipe Alou singled to right for two more runs.

Fischer allowed five hits in the first three innings, but then settled down. He retired 13 batters in a row before left fielder Lee Maye lost Wally Bond's fly for a two-base error. Bond then came across on Jim Wynn's single to center.

Fischer, a hard-throwing right-hander seeking to keep a spot among starting pitchers, struck out three and walked only one.

Torre and Bailey each had two hits for the Braves. One of Bailey's safeties was a tremendous 430-foot homer off the centerfield wall in the ninth.

The Braves and Colts wind up their three-game series with a meeting starting at the unusual hour of 4:30 p.m., Milwaukee time. Right-hander Tony Cloninger was Milwaukee's choice to oppose Houston's Ken Johnson on the mound.

South Track Team Beats Oshkosh High

SHEBOYGAN — The Sheboygan South High School track team defeated Oshkosh, 68 - 50, in a steady drizzle here Friday afternoon.

Ron Stubbe and Dave Mangano led the Redmen with two firsts each. Stubbe also turned in a pair of seconds.

Oshkosh's chief strength came in the weight events, in which it outscored South, 17-1. Myles Strasser won the shot put with a throw of 47 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Rick Fuhs won the discus, with an effort of 133-3. The Indians slammed the discus.

The other individual winners for Oshkosh were Greg Wood, in the 880 (2:12.2) and Bill Oaks in the pole vault (11-7).

Stubbe won the 440 in 54.9 seconds and the low hurdles in :22.1, and placed second in the high hurdles and the high jump. Mangano won the 100-yard dash in :10.7 and the 220 in :24.0.

Northern Illinois Triumphs, 9-5, Over Wisconsin

DEKALB, Ill. (AP) — Northern Illinois capitalized on Steve Land's solo homer and Jack Merlet's two-run blast in the sixth inning and four unearned runs Friday for a 9-5 baseball victory over Wisconsin.

Capt. Dave Dymus surrendered 11 hits, but was a victim of poor fielding support as the Badgers committed three errors in dropping their seventh game in 13 starts this spring.

Wisconsin's 12-hit attack was sparked by Rick Reichardt, who belted his fifth homer of the season and added a pair of singles. Tymus, Hal Brandt and Mark Rosenblum had two hits each.

Stockbridge Posts 1-0 Win Over Jays

Tom Schoen Captures Duel From Windhurst

MENASHA — Stockbridge's Tom Schoen came out on top in a pitching duel with Mike Windhurst as the Indians edged Menasha, 1-0, in their opener here Friday.

The junior righthander, who in the summer hurls for Menasha's Legion league entry, allowed three hits, struck out 11, walked five and scored the game's lone run in the top of the seventh on LeRoy Steffen's hit.

Schoen walked the bases full in the bottom of the seventh but fanned pinchhitter Tim Leopold to end the game.

Walks Wood

Windhurst shut out the Indians on four hits in the first six innings, striking out 11 en route. Schoen led off the seventh with a single and stole second.

After an outfield out, Windhurst walked Neil Wood for his lone pass of the game. He then was relieved by Stan Ostrowski, who after forcing Bob Daun to pop to the infield, gave up the hit to Steffen. Schoen beat the

Reiser to Stay Hospitalized for Two Weeks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pete Reiser, Los Angeles Dodger coach who suffered a mild heart attack, must remain hospitalized for a two-week rest, his physician says.

The veteran coach, 44, was taken to Daniel Freeman Memorial Hospital in suburban Inglewood when he complained of chest pains while hitting fungoes Thursday night before the Los Angeles-Cincinnati game.

"I was definitely a heart attack, but a mild one," said Dr. Robert Woods, the club physician. "The post attack symptoms are good. The pulse is normal."

It's not yet known how long Reiser will be inactive. Leo Durocher has taken over the job of coaching third base and presumably will remain there indefinitely.

CBS Buys TV Rights to NFL Title Games

Pays $1.8 Million Per Game for Next Two Years

BY BOB GREEN

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System has made the latest move in the pocketbook battle for television rights to pro football—a $1.8 million move for the National Football League's championship game.

CBS pledged that amount per game Friday for the telecasting rights to the NFL's next two championship playoff games, completing the near-incredible bidding for pro football TV rights for the next few years.

The figure is roughly twice the $926,000 paid for the 1963 game and is a record for a one-day sports event for home television. This, of course, excludes the closed circuit telecasts of heavyweight championship fights.

The two-year pact was announced jointly by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and William MacPhail, vice president in charge of CBS-TV sports. It's the first time CBS has had rights to the NFL title game.

Limited to CBS

In a prepared statement, Rozelle said:

"Negotiations for the two-year agreement were limited to CBS-TV because each of the other two major networks have contracts with the American Football League to televise regular season games during the period of this contract, and one of these networks is committed to carry the AFL playoff game in 1964."

"Therefore it is considered in the best interests of the National Football League to keep its championship game free of any possible conflict of interest, especially in the area of promotion."

The deal completes the line-up for telecasting of football for the next couple of years. Most of the arrangements have been negotiated in the past few months.

The line-up:

CBS — NFL championship games in 1964 and 1965, $1.8 million per game.

Regular Season Games

CBS-NFL regular season games in 1964 and 1965, $28.2 million for the package.

ABC-AFL regular season games for 1964, $2.35 million for the package.

NBC-AFL regular season games for five years, starting in 1965, $36 million for the package.

NBC-regular season college games for 1964 and 1965, $13 million for the package.

By way of contrast, NBC pays $3.5 million for television rights to the World Series. Major league baseball teams negotiate individually for television contracts for their regular season games, as opposed to the league arrangement in pro football.

Almost as an after-thought, Rozelle's prepared statement on the deal with CBS noted:

"The NFL obviously considers the negotiated price very satisfactory."

Three Tie for Women's Lead

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—Shirley Englehorn muffed six putts inside the six-foot mark Friday but still managed to join Ruth Jessen and Marlene Hagge as first-round co-leaders in the Betsy Rawls-Peach Blossom Women's Open Golf Tournament.

The leaders shot two-under par 70s on the 6,435-yard Spartanburg Country Club Course, turning in identical cards of 36-34.

The twin-jet airliner took off from Beirut on the two-hour non-stop flight to Dhanran and ran into the sandstorm near the end of the 1,100-mile hop.
Visibility was near zero when the plane began its approach for the nighttime landing, then overflowed the airport near the Persian Gulf coast and went down 10 miles offshore.
The plane was found during a massive air, land and sea search launched at dawn by U.S. and British Air Force jets and helicopters, private planes, desert vehicles and ships.
Passengers were reported to include 23 Americans, 11 Saudis, four Lebanese, one Syrian, one Bahraini, one Jordanian and one Palestinian. The crew consisted of five Lebanese, one French and one Swiss.
Dhanran, a comparatively modern desert city, is the heart of Saudi Arabia's multimillion-dollar oil operations and the headquarters of the Arabian American Oil Co.
There is a large American colony in Dhanran connected with ARAMCO. Most employees live in the company complex of air-conditioned apartments and single dwellings, with company stores and entertainment facilities nearby.

Milwaukee Jury Convicts 16 for Demonstrations

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sixteen civil rights demonstrators, including two Congress of Racial Equality leaders, were convicted of disorderly conduct Friday for staging a sit-in at Mayor Henry Maier's office in City Hall last Sept. 17.
A jury of three men and three women deliberated two hours before reaching verdicts against the group, which included 11 women.
County Judge F. Ryan Duffy fined John H. Givens Jr., 28, Milwaukee CORE chairman, the maximum of $100 and costs. Eugene Tournor, 27, of St. Louis, national field secretary of CORE, and the 14 others were fined $50 and costs.
The group staged their City Hall demonstration in protesting the membership of Fred E. Lins on the Greater Milwaukee Social Development Commission. CORE leaders contend that Lins made derogatory remarks about Negroes.

Cambodia, Thailand In Clash at Border

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Three Cambodian soldiers were killed and a Thai border patrol policeman was wounded in a frontier clash last Tuesday, the Bangkok World said.

The paper said the Cambodians finally withdrew leaving three dead behind. Thailand and Cambodia have no diplomatic relations.

Brazil Expected to Break With Cubans

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's new government is expected to break off diplomatic relations with Cuba but continue its commercial and diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.
Informed sources say the regime will let relations with Havana go into a freeze before announcing the break. Cuban Ambassador Raul Roa Kouri left Brazil with his family and personal belongings on April 2, a day after the ouster of President Joao Goulart.

Rusk's motorcade drove 15 miles from Saigon to Bien Hoa. The highway was guarded by large army units and armed helicopters flying as escort.
Six Americans have been killed since Feb. 1 and more than 90 wounded by Viet Cong terror bombings. The two worst bombings, both in February, were at a baseball field where American servicemen were playing, and in the American community movie theater in downtown Saigon.
"We are jittery as hell," said a security agent after today's attack on the military bus.
A terrorist hurled the grenade through the door of the bus, then disappeared in the crowded streets of Saigon.
Rusk's car was about three miles away when the blast occurred. Told of the bombing, the State Department chief continued on his way to call on Foreign Minister Phan Huy Quat.

Washing Hands Basic Rule for Food Handling

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: How important is washing the hands before handling food or eating utensils?

Personally, this is a must with me. But perhaps I am too touchy. Several months ago an elderly relative came to live at our home. The fact that she does not wash her hands causes me to cringe whenever she asks to help in the kitchen. Although I admonish my two small children quite purposely in her presence of the necessity for clean hands before handling food, she doesn't seem to get the point. For my own peace of mind I have refused to let her dry dishes or set the table. After all, I am responsible for the health of five persons. Yet maybe this has reached mountainous proportions with me.

Rather astonishing, don't you think, that any adult should need to be told the importance of having clean hands before touching food? It's part of the difference between a healthy civilization and a disease-ridden one. Safe milk, safe drinking water, refrigeration, food inspection, sterilizing milk bottles between use, vaccination, all these things are part of the difference between nations where life is consistently long, and the backward nations where life is still short. Oh, sure, you can violate any

— MRS. S. H.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is a man an alcoholic when he consumes more than five drinks? He just can't stop until he reaches the point of stupor and nausea. This occurs at intervals throughout the year.

There is no numerical rule for an "alcoholic."

Anyway, argument of whether a person is an alcoholic is futile. The real question is whether a person has "a drinking problem." Seems to me that makes the answer obvious in this case.

Dear Dr. Molner: If blood tests show that a man and woman have a venereal disease, can they still get married?

No. They would not be issued a marriage license, unless both persons are beyond the reproductive age and non-infectious.

Note to W. W.: Yes, I've heard before that "a person isn't normal unless he has five or six bowel movements a day." That is not normal; it could be regarded as diarrhea, or as incomplete evacuation. More than one or two in any 24 hours is abnormal in my judgment.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his reader's questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Mild Spring Weekend For Most of Nation; Showers Fall Elsewhere

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
April showers dampened scattered sections of the nation today, but most of the country was enjoying a mild spring weekend.

Showers and thundershowers wet spots from Lower Michigan to Oklahoma and there were some sharp temperature contrasts.

Some showers fell in the lower Mississippi Valley, in Maine, the Florida Keys and the central Rockies.

The showers were short and light with the rainfall amounting to no more than around a third of an inch—although three-quarters of an inch of hail pelted Oklahoma City and a quarter of an inch hit Kansas City. Unseasonably mild temperatures in the 60s and 70s stretched from eastern Texas and Oklahoma through the Ohio Valley and into western New York State.

Today in History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, April 18, the 109th day of 1964. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, 16 overloaded B25s lurched from the deck of the carrier Hornet. Led by Maj. James Doolittle, they sped inland to attack Tokyo. Kobe and Nagoya in the first effort to bring the war to the Japanese homeland.

On this date
In 1755, Paul Revere made his ride from Charlestown to Lexington to announce the approach of British troops from Boston.

In 1906, earthquakes and fire destroyed two-thirds of San Francisco.

In 1916, the United States notified Germany that unless its submarine war policy was abandoned diplomatic relations would be ended.

In 1944, Red army troops captured the Crimean town of Balaklava, famed as the scene of the "Charge of the Light Brigade."

In 1945, the War Department disclosed a grim story of Japanese atrocities against civilians in Manila.

Ten years ago—Dust storms in the southern part of the province of Manitoba, Canada, were reported the worst in 35 years.

Five years ago—President Dwight D. Eisenhower named Christian Herter to succeed John Foster Dulles as secretary of state.

One year ago—Dr. Jose Miro Cardona resigned as head of the Cuban Revolutionary Council with a blast at the John F. Kennedy administration's Cuban policy.

State Patrols Have Some Escort Duties

State patrol units do have assigned escort duties in some areas, Appleton Police Chief E. O. Wolff said. He said that a story in the Post-Crescent Thursday indicated that state patrolmen do not have escort duties.

Wolff said that patrol units are often called upon to assist in special escorts of heavy highway machinery, military equipment or in other special cases. He said the units may often escort a special shipment throughout the length of the state.

State patrolmen do not have regular police duties, such as county police have, Wolff said. They do not have funeral escorts or requests to handle family disturbances. Duties of state patrolmen are generally concerned with the 8-hour patrol of highway traffic.

Charlie's Attention On Earthy Topics

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

While it isn't sporting to look for old fossils in a bank, it may be all right to seek them ON a bank. Anyhow, I did.

On the limestone siding of the west wall of the Appleton State bank, I discovered a multitude of fossils, but only two of them fair-to-middling specimens.

One was a 600,000,000 year-old fossil brachiopod; the other was a younger neighbor — a sea lily stem better known as a crinoid.

That's on the OUTSIDE of the bank.

Maybe you don't know it and maybe you don't even care, but if you live in Outagamie County you can collect a ten cent bounty on every rat you dig, snare, trap or catch—and turn in.

If you live in Menominee or Shawano County, you can be a member, too. Rats are bountied at the same rate in those counties, too, but nowhere else in Wisconsin.

Want to be a full-fledged foreign correspondent? You can be if you peck out a letter to Letters Abroad, Inc.

That's a non-profit organization which specializes in bringing together adults from 125 foreign countries — for letter writing.

"At the moment," writes Mrs. Fremont Chandler of that organization, "we have many foreigners in our files who seek Americans . . . to write to."

Purpose of the singular organization is, said Mrs. Chandler, "an ultimate aim of a just world peace and also the least expensive way to spread good will."

The address of Letters Abroad: 18 East 60th Street, New York, New York—10022. Coincidentally, Mrs. Chandler is the sister-in-law of Mrs. Edwin S. Godfrey, 1103 E. North St., Appleton.

Oooooooh, Jacob Heimermann!

I'm calling you to see if you'll let me look at the ancient Indian pipe made of "black stone."

I haven't been able to reach you by telephone to ask permission to look at the pipe, but I'm guessing that you have a fine collector's item.

Is it lustrous, hard? It's probably obsidian, a volcanic glass which western Indians used for ceremonial purposes and for their most elegant arrowheads.

May I see it? May I? May I?

Driven by curiosity, I tried to make a telephonic round-up of professional excavators hereabout who have found something interesting in their digging.

Most reported "nothing unusual," but others told me that some 15 to 18 feet under Appleton there's the litter of an ancient forest. Great trees are strewn about.

Although Wisconsin's glacial age goes back some 55,000 years B.C., most of Appleton's under-surface forests are fewer than 18,000 years old, and all were knocked down by glacial action.

Only one of my diggers had ever found anything "special," and he is John McHugh, a sewer and excavating contractor of 1308 W. Prospect Ave.

Some years ago McHugh accidentally dug into an Indian burial ground near the gate of St. Mary's cemetery. There he found human bones mixed with Indian artifacts, including a spearhead.

Today's big, earthmoving equipment moves so swiftly and gouges out so much soil that finding "something interesting" is mostly just chance.

One must conclude that pick-and-shovel men of years ago added somewhat to our knowledge of those who lived before us; and that the earth moving machinery of today may not be counted upon for making important archeological discoveries.

Earthy column today, hey?

Waupaca Firemen Prevent Fire

Lightning Bolt Nearly Ends State Park Plans

WAUPACA — A bolt of lightning almost brought plans for a state park at the Hartman Creek Fish Hatchery down in shambles about 3:20 p.m. Friday.

Only the fast action of Waupaca and King firemen prevented a grass fire from becoming a major forest fire.

Orville Pomeroy, who lives across the road from the pine tree plantation and apple orchard where the lightning struck, said he saw the flash. He said it appeared to have struck the remains of a wire fence which borders the pine plantation.

The bolt ignited three separate fires along the fence line separating the pine plantation from the orchard.

Crown Fire Prevented

Waupaca firemen, who were still in the fire station after returning from another grass fire south of Badger School, were able to stop the fire before it was able to climb to the high-

Proxmire Says Red Rift Seen In Trade Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Friday a startling drop in trade between Red China and Russia was a better indicator of the widening rift between the Communist nations than their exchange of insults.

The senator said in a statement the Russians and the Red Chinese must rely heavily upon each other economically because of their relative inability to trade extensively with the free world, and "an economic rift is probably even more important than a political schism."

Even though Communist trade figures for 1963 are not yet available, Proxmire said, "the evidence of economic warfare within the Communist bloc is clear."

He said that in 1959 the value of Soviet exports to Communist China was about $855 million, but had fallen to $233 million by 1962. He listed Soviet imports from Communist China in 1959 at $1.1 billion and $515 million in 1962.

"Communist China depends heavily on Russia for machinery and equipment," Proxmire said. "Yet, these purchases have fallen from $598 million to only $27 million in the three years 1959 to 1962. Chinese imports of complete manufacturing plants dropped from $400 million to $9 million."

Rusk Blames Peking, Hanoi for Warfare In South Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam "will have peace when Hanoi and Peking have been taught to leave their neighbors alone," U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a welcoming crowd of 600 at Saigon airport Friday.

"You and those of us who are at your side must defeat their effort to impose their own misery upon you," Rusk said. "That this will be done I have not the slightest doubt, and I am here to make clear once again that we shall help you do it."

Rusk's visit, first to South Viet Nam by an American secretary of state in office, brought Saigon the tightest security arrangements ever imposed for an official American visit. The capital's normally bustling main streets were deserted except for police spaced at close intervals as the motorcade swept through to the American Embassy.

$500,000 Damage To Lumber Company In Friday Night Fire

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP)—A flash fire spread quickly through lumber and sawdust and leveled the Menominee Box and Lumber Co., Friday, causing damage estimated at $500,000.

The fire engulfed the two-story main building of the planing mill in minutes. One employee said a pile of sawdust became a "ball of fire."

Firemen said the blaze may have started when a spark from a lumber finishing machine ignited the sawdust. Some 40 employees fled safely.

Firemen from Menominee and nearby Marinette, Wis., kept the flames from spreading to two warehouses, the main office building and 750,000 feet of lumber stacked in the yard despite a 25 mile an hour wind.

The firm, which has been in operation at Menominee since 1907, produces hardwood dimension lumber for furniture.

The damage estimate was made by company president Ray Washburn, who said a nearby glue factory housing some 6,000 feet of lumber also was destroyed.

Student Services Counselor Will Be Appointed for Fall Semester

An administrative reorganization of the Appleton Vocational and Adult School as recommended by Director Carl Bertram, will begin next fall.

Major initial change is the appointment of Milton Ness, now guidance counselor and teacher, as full-time student services coordinator, beginning in September.

Ness will be responsible for admissions, psychological testing, counseling, programing, placement, records, student council, interviews with prospective students and conferences with students who may be put on academic probation.

Half Time

Ness now spends about half his time in testing and the remainder teaching courses in communication skills, American institutions, English and industrial safety.

Joe G. Gunderson, coordinator of business education, and E. H. Funk, trades and industry coordinator, will be teaching coordinators with responsibility for curriculum development, course revisions, textbook adoption, teacher improvement and other areas relating to instruction. Their work now includes student counseling. Mrs. Lois Jean Rusch will continue as part-time homemaking coordinator.

Bertram explained that the development of the post-high school area of instruction almost necessitates a different administrative arrangement for student services, curriculum development and supervision of instruction. High school graduates now form the major portion of the vocational school's full-time enrollment, while only a few "compulsory age" (under 18) students are enrolled.

Better Job

The major reason for the changes is to do a more thorough job in the student service program, and to utilize people in the special abilities. Bertram said.

The total reorganization will give a much more effective program of administration, he said.

A new business education teacher has been hired by the Appleton Vocational School for next year. He is Thomas C. Vaughan, who is now completing work for a master of science degree in distributive education at the University of Wisconsin.

Vaughan, who has a bachelor of business administration from UW, has eight years of work experience, more recently with General Telephone of Wisconsin. His service as general commercial training supervisor for the state for the telephone firm prompted his interest in teaching. While attending graduate school, he has been an instructor in the UW School of Commerce. He is a teaching intern this semester at the Milwaukee Vocational and Adult School.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of 28 youths fleeing Cuba to evade the military draft, which also serves as a labor pool, says "there is panic among young men" because of it.

The exile, Angel Robaina, 18, said he had escaped from a stadium in Oriente Province where 900 draft youths were concentrated.

Robaina was one of 48 refugees arriving in three boats Wednesday.

Last weekend 28 other youths who didn't want to be drafted arrived by boat.

The Castro government has said draftees will be used to harvest sugar cane and other crops.

Rougeau Loses Five Votes in Ballot Recount

12th Ward County
Board Seat Goes
To Glenn Pelton

Robert Rougeau, the defeated candidate who contested the results of the 12th Ward supervisor's race in last week's election, lost five votes in a recount by the Appleton Common Council Friday night.

The results of April 7 city election gave the Outagamie County Board seat to incumbent Glenn E. Pelton, 939 E. Washington St., by a 465 to 460 vote.

When the ballots were recounted by the council Friday night, Pelton received 465 votes to Rougeau's 455.

Each candidate received 442 votes on voting machines, but the recount showed Pelton received 23 absentee votes, to Rougeau's 13.

Ballots Unmarked

The five vote difference came in ballots which were unmarked in the supervisor's race. The 12th Ward election board accidentally gave the votes to Rougeau.

The city was represented at the recount by Mayor Clarence Mitchell, City Clerk Elden Broehm, City Atty. Frederick Froehlich and 14 aldermen.

Rougeau, a supermarket operator, was represented by Hugh Nelson, an attorney. Pelton, who was also represented by an attorney is retired.

Pioneer Promoter
Of Oil Deals Dead

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — W. L. Connelly, who promoted million-dollar deals during oil's boom-or-bust era and lived to become a solid industry figure, is dead.

Connelly, who helped found the giant Sinclair Oil holdings, died Friday at a Tulsa hospital eight hours after he became ill at his Tulsa home. He was 91.

Connelly drilled his first well at age 22 in Wood County, Ohio in 1895, and eight years later joined the Kansas oil boom.

He became associated with Harry Sinclair, and worked for him for four months without pay, Connelly recalled later. It was the beginning of a 53-year association with the Sinclair firm.

Connelly was named head of all foreign Sinclair operations in 1928. He retired as chairman of the board of Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. in 1950, but remained active as special consultant.

U. S. Offers Details
On Plan to Freeze
Nuclear Arms Stocks

GENEVA (AP)—The United States has unveiled details of its proposal for a freeze on the major powers' stocks of nuclear missiles and bombers.

In an effort to counter Soviet charges of espionage, U.S. Disarmament Delegate Adrian S. Fisher said no inventory or control of the total number of weapons held by each side would be required.

But Fisher said a rigorous control and inspection system would be set up to prevent a further buildup or improvement of stockpiles.

Fisher told the 17-nation disarmament conference the freeze was the "most significant and potentially far-reaching" of five its program with a fervent performance of the school's alumnus.
